About Hartford Seminary

Mission Statement

Hartford Seminary serves God

- By preparing leaders, students, scholars and religious institutions to understand and live faithfully in today's multifaith and pluralistic world;
- By teaching, research, informing the public and engaging persons in dialogue;
- By affirming the particularities of faith and social context while openly exploring differences and commonalities.

Adopted by the Board of Trustees
November 2002

Values

These are the values expressed in our programs and within our common life as Trustees, Faculty and Staff of Hartford Seminary:

We seek as people of faith to serve God humbly;

We are committed to the love of God and love of stranger;

We celebrate our Christian foundation;

As part of our fidelity to that foundation, we affirm our historic and continuing commitment to Christian-Muslim dialogue and commit to further dialogue with Judaism and other religious traditions;

We acknowledge the importance of spirituality in living out our mission and the value of ritual and symbol within the spiritual life;

We affirm the common humanity of all people;

We are a community that seeks to be a safe place for disparate voices;

We welcome both those who affirm the traditional voices in faith communities and those who carry doubts regarding those traditions. We seek fresh ways of relating faith, practice and reason to modern life;

We commit to a justice that moves us beyond toleration to critical engagement in an environment of trust;

We cultivate a community committed to the scholarly pursuit of truth and its practical embodiment;

We strive for excellent and creative teaching and learning experiences throughout the curriculum;

We affirm high quality research, especially that which bridges the theoretical and applied;

We seek practices that embody integrity in our professional and institutional life;

We commit to diversity in our Seminary community;

And we believe in education that is transformative, creative and empowering, enabling people to contribute more fully to their faith-based and civic communities.

A Scholarly Community of Faith

Hartford Seminary's influence reaches far beyond the walls of churches, mosques, and synagogues. Its work strengthens the moral character of society. By developing the leadership capacities of religious leaders and the wider public, the Seminary directly affects the cities, towns, and rural areas where these leaders live. Armed with renewed vigor and dedication to their work, Hartford Seminary students and program participants return to their communities with a new wholeness, a new sense of the possibility of a humane world, and the practical skills to bring about that vision. Hartford Seminary nurtures and matures individual spiritual growth.

Within this scholarly community of faith, faculty members draw from their particular fields of specialization to educate religious leaders in the many ways leadership is exercised in local faith communities, whether traditional or emerging, established or informal. They teach students in classrooms and online, inform the larger community through public presentations, and engage in scholarship that furthers our understanding of the dynamics of faith in various settings.

Besides the formal graduate programs fully described later in this Catalogue, the Seminary offers a program of lectures, workshops, symposia, and performances that are open to students and the public. These programs complement and enrich our traditional academic offerings. They are led both by members of our own faculty and by nationally and internationally recognized experts.

The Seminary is also committed to providing leadership education to communities that have historically been marginalized. This is expressed through the Black Ministries Program (BMP), the Hispanic Ministries Program/Programa de Ministerios Hispanos (PMH), and the Women's Leadership Institute (WLI). Both the BMP and PMH programs provide introductory courses for lay and ordained Christian leaders. The WLI program is open to all women interested in exploring a feminist perspective on leadership that is justice-based, globally oriented, attentive to diversity, and ritually expressed.

The Hartford Seminary library is widely known for its depth and breadth of content. Our holdings emphasize Christian ministry, Biblical studies, ethics, Christian feminism, Islamic studies, Christian-Muslim relations, sociology of religion, and contemporary church practice. The library, whose reading room and stacks occupy the lower floors of the Seminary's main building, contains more than 62,000 volumes, 7500 e-books, and 300 periodicals. Computers, along with wireless capabilities, provide online access to international databases containing more than several million entries.

While our programs and courses cover a range of theoretical and methodological approaches to the study of Christianity, Islam, and Judaism, two academic centers give particular attention to unique and longstanding aspects of the Seminary's mission: the Hartford Institute for Religion Research and the Duncan Black Macdonald Center for the Study of Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations.

Hartford Institute for Religion Research (HIRR)

The Hartford Institute for Religion Research has a thirty-five-year record of rigorous, action-oriented research, anticipation of emerging issues and commitment to the creative dissemination of learning. This record has earned the Institute an international reputation as an important bridge between the scholarly community and the practice of faith.

The Hartford Institute was established at Hartford Seminary in 1981, formalizing a research program started by the Seminary in 1974. Its work is guided by a disciplined understanding of the interrelationship between the life and resources of American religious institutions and the possibilities and limits placed on those institutions by the social and cultural context in which they work, and by a dialogical understanding of the interrelationship among the theological, the situational and the strategic. Since its founding, the institute has initiated more than 80 projects supported by more than $10 million in external funding and has developed strong connections to local congregations, denominational structures and theological education, including the institutionalization of the Cooperative Congregational Partnership and its related Faith Community Today surveys and publications as a program of the Institute.

Faith Communities Today (FACT) was launched in 2000 as the largest national survey of congregations ever conducted in the United States. The study of 14,301 local churches, synagogues, parishes, temples and mosques was intended to provide a public profile of the organizational backbone of religion in America – congregations – at the beginning of a new millennium. The informal coalition of denominations and faith groups that sponsored the statistical portrait was so pleased with the insights and appreciation generated that they formalized their continuing efforts as The Cooperative Congregational Studies Partnership (CCSP), hosted by Hartford Seminary's Institute for Religion Research. For more information about CCSP member organizations and about the continuing series of FACT surveys and publications visit: www.FaithCommunitiesToday.org

Programs

Research in service of the practical theological reflection of religious leaders is at the heart of what the institute does. Groundbreaking studies of congregational theology, megachurches, the implications of postmodernity for national denominational identities, national trends in congregational vitality, and emergent pedagogies for interfaith dialogue in theological education are a few of the many ways in which we seek to measure how people of faith are forming and re-forming their institutions. Institute personnel and projects have pioneered methods for the study of congregations, and are currently merging practical theological perspectives into the discipline of congregational studies toward the development of new tools for understanding congregational theologies. Hartford Institute projects have resulted in an impressive list of books in recent years, and an equally impressive list of news outlets where institute findings and staff are quoted.

The HIRR website, www.hirr.hartsem.edu, established in 1997, provides a gateway into the best research resources on the Web, and includes up-to-date survey findings, reports on national studies of religion and venues for interactive exchange of knowledge.

Faculty

Institute faculty regularly partner with other seminaries, universities, and agencies in sharing research-based resources for congregational development. Institute faculty are regular contributors through the media to the public understanding of American religious life, serve on the boards of a host of professional associations, and regularly address a broad spectrum of religious and academic audiences. The Hartford Institute faculty, Scott Thumma (Director), Allison Norton (Faculty Associate), Andrew Gardner (Visiting Faculty Associate), Patricia Tevington (HIRR Postdoctoral Research Fellow), and Sara R. Brown (EPIC Project Director), provide consultation to congregations, seminaries, denominations and area councils of churches and synagogues, for groups that range from Anglican to Adventist, Baptist to Baha'i, Churches of Christ to United Church of Christ, Methodist to Muslim, Reform Judaism to Reformed Church in America to Roman Catholic.

Duncan Black Macdonald Center for the Study of Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations

Named for one of the nation's early, pre-eminent scholars of Islam, the Duncan Black Macdonald Center for the Study of Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations is the country's oldest center for such study. The Macdonald Center embodies Hartford Seminary's long-term commitment – begun with Macdonald's appointment in 1892 – to the study of Islam and Christianity and the complex relationship between the two religions throughout history and in the modern world. The current center was organized in 1973.

The Macdonald Center challenges scholars, students, members of religious institutions, community groups, the media and the general public to go beyond stereotypes and prejudices and to develop a profound awareness and appreciation of Islamic religion, law and culture. It is committed to the premise that through intensive study and academically guided dialogue, mutual respect and cooperation between Muslims and Christians can and must develop.

Programs

Edited by Macdonald Center faculty, The Muslim World is one of the oldest journals dedicated to the study of Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations, with subscribers in over 60 countries. The journal, published by Blackwell, provides scholarly articles on contemporary Islam and Muslim societies and on the history of interaction between Christianity and Islam, as well as reviews of current literature in the field.

Complementing its academic work, the Center is actively engaged in community service through professional consultation, and participates regularly in the Seminary's educational outreach program. The Macdonald Center Willem A. Bijlefeld Lecture brings a distinguished scholar and/or religious leader to campus for a public presentation on some aspect of Islam or Christian-Muslim relations every other year. A bi-annual conference on Christian-Muslim relations is organized along with the Bijlefeld Lecture. In these ways and in many others, the Center works to promote Christian-Muslim understanding and mutual respect in the local, national and world communities.

The work of the Macdonald Center is enhanced by a number of international partnerships. Each year students, scholars and visiting faculty from various parts of the world engage in the study of Islam and Christian-Muslim relations.

Faculty

The Macdonald Center faculty include core faculty members, David D. Grafton, Hossein Kamaly, Timur Yuskaev, faculty associates Bilal Ansari, Hans Harmakaputra, Lucinda Mosher, and professor emeritus Yahya Michot, along with staff members Aida Mansoor and Nick Mumejian. Each faculty member has particular expertise and interest in the areas of study within the Seminary's graduate programs that focus on Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim relations. They are sought after teachers and presenters locally, nationally and globally. They speak and teach in academic and religious settings to foster interfaith understanding in diverse settings. For more information on the Macdonald Center please see their website at <http://www.hartsem.edu/macdonald-center/>.

The Neighborhood and Campus

The Neighborhood

Hartford Seminary is located in the West End neighborhood of Hartford, Connecticut – a Victorian style neighborhood on the National Historic Register. The majority of this neighborhood is residential, and it is one of the safest areas in Hartford. Two-thirds of its geographical area has single and two and three-family homes that are well maintained with interesting and varied architecture. Also nearby are several high and medium density apartment buildings.

The West End's diverse housing stock, ranging from efficiency apartments to mansions, is suitable for a wide spectrum of ages, income and lifestyle, and has resulted in a very diverse population of about 9,000. The West End has a growing student population who attend nearby colleges. Often they rent apartments in two- and three-family homes.

The neighborhood's commercial corridor, Farmington Avenue, caters to automobile oriented and convenience shopping, but in recent years local pubs and restaurants have opened up and have thrived. There is public transportation via bus lines into downtown Hartford.

Public spaces – schools, a park, and museum – add to the West End neighborhood. Elizabeth Park, a city park noted for its gardens, is a popular destination for West Enders. The park's Rose Garden, built in 1902 and the oldest rose garden in the country, has over 12,000 rose bushes and attracts visitors from the region and beyond. Also nearby are the Connecticut Historical Society and the University of Connecticut School of Law.

The Campus

Hartford Seminary's campus includes a main building, several smaller office/classroom buildings and a number of residential housing units.

In 1972 Hartford Seminary shifted its direction, moving from a traditional residential divinity school and establishing itself as an interfaith theological center. To accommodate its changed needs, the Seminary decided to sell its campus and build a new structure.

Internationally renowned post-modern architect Richard Meier was selected by the Board of Trustees to design the new home for Hartford Seminary. Construction began in 1978 with completion in 1981. The main building includes a large meeting room, a chapel, a library, (open to the public), classrooms and areas for part-time and full-time faculty, as well as workrooms and offices.

After almost 30 years, Hartford Seminary, as one of Richard Meier's first public designs continues to be a symbol of forward-looking research, education and open interfaith dialogue.

"If any religious symbol can be said to dominate Richard Meier's design for Hartford Seminary, it is the primordial emblem of creation: light. Whether silhouetted against a cloudless summer sky or wrapped in the haze of a New England winter, this low white building is an arrestingly luminous presence . . . Transposed to full scale, Hartford Seminary displays a harmonious ordering of calm, simple volumes, and a modulation of radiant spaces unprecedented in Meier's work."

—Architectural Record, January 1982

Across the street from the main building are two buildings. One houses the Hartford Institute for Religion Research, and the other is the home of the Women's Leadership Institute. Both buildings include faculty offices and meeting space.

Around the corner is the Martin and Aviva Budd Interfaith Building which houses the Duncan Black Macdonald Center for the Study of Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations as well as other faculty offices for faculty who teach interfaith understanding.

There are residential structures that house faculty and students. The entire campus comprises approximately 12 acres in a one and a half square block area.

Seminary Faculty

Core Faculty

David D. Grafton

Tauris, 2004), and Piety, Politics and Power: Lutherans Encountering Islam in the Middle East (Wipf and Stock, 2009), The Contested Origins of the 1865 Arabic Bible (Brill, 2015). He is the North American Sections editor for the bibliographic history Christian-Muslim Relations 1500-1900 (CMR1900)

David D. Grafton is a pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, and has served Lutheran congregations in New Jersey, England, and an international congregation in Cairo, Egypt. He is married and has three children.

Deena Grant

B.A. (Brandeis University)

Ph.D. (New York University)

Associate Professor of Jewish Studies

Specialization: Hebrew Bible, Israelite Religion, Anthropomorphism, Jewish Interpretive Traditions

Deena Grant is Associate Professor of Jewish Studies at Hartford Seminary. She received her Ph.D. in Hebrew and Judaic Studies from New York University, specializing in Hebrew Bible. Her book Divine Anger in the Hebrew Bible (Catholic Biblical Association, 2014) explores varying expressions of God's anger across major biblical collections. An observant Jewish scholar, Dr. Grant values studying and teaching the Hebrew Bible from a historical-critical perspective and also as it is interpreted and lived out by faith communities. Dr. Grant is currently working on the concept of hate in the Hebrew Bible.

Hossein Kamaly

M.Sc. (New York University)

M.A. (Columbia University)

Ph.D. (Columbia University)

Associate Professor of Islamic Studies, Holder of the Imam Ali Chair for Shi'i Studies and Dialogue among Islamic Legal Schools

Specialization: Quranic Studies, Shia Studies, Islamic Studies, Interfaith Interpretive Traditions, Theology, Philosophy of Religion, Deontic Logic, Intellectual History, Literature

Hossein Kamaly holds the Imam Ali Chair in Shia Studies and Dialog Among Islamic Schools of Thought at the Hartford Seminary, as of 2019. Before obtaining his PhD (2004) and MA (2001), both in history from Columbia University, he had earned an MSc degree in Mathematics, Statistics, and Operations Research from New York University. His undergraduate degree was in Computer and Electrical Engineering from Shahid Beheshti University in Iran. In Tehran, he pursued diverse disciplines of learning, actively participating in formal classes and informal circles on philosophy, epistemology, and traditional Islamic learning. His translation of Karl Popper's Logic of Scientific Discovery, which first appeared in 1991 and has undergone six reprints ever since, along with articles published in Persian on logic and probability theory indicate his deep-rooted interests from his younger years. Between 2000 and 2017, Kamaly taught in various capacities at the City University of New York, Columbia University, and Barnard College. He also worked as the Middle East, Islamic, and Jewish Studies Librarian at Columbia University, 2004-7. His first book in English, God & Man in Tebran: Contending Visions of the Divine from the Qajars to the Islamic Republic was published in 2018 by Columbia University Press. His next book, A History of Islam in 21 Women, is forthcoming (September 2019) from Oneworld Publications in the UK. He is currently working on several projects, including a monograph entitled Giving Voice to Scripture: Tafsir in the Imami Shia Tradition. Kamaly describes himself as a lifelong student, and his pursuit of knowledge and wisdom continues.

Joel N. Lohr

B.A. (Trinity Western University, Canada)

M.A. (University of Durham, England)

Ph.D. (University of Durham, England)

Professor of Bible and Interreligious Dialogue and President of Hartford Seminary

Specialization: Jewish-Christian Dialogue and Sacred Texts, Jewish-Christian Relations, Interreligious Dialogue, Relations, and Conflict Management, Intercultural Competence, Diversity, and Leadership in Higher Education

Joel N. Lohr is an award winning author, scholar of religion, and passionate leader in interreligious relations and higher education. Born to Dutch immigrants in Canada, Lohr is a first generation college graduate, earning a BA in Religious Studies (Trinity Western University, Vancouver, Canada) and an MA and PhD in Religion and Theology (University of Durham, England). He then took up a prestigious Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada postdoctoral fellowship at the University of Toronto and taught at Wycliffe College, a seminary within the Anglican Church of Canada. He has held teaching appointments at Trinity Western University in Vancouver, Canada and most recently at University of the Pacific in Stockton, CA, where he also served as Dean of Religious Life.

President Lohr's teaching and research has focused on the Bible, specifically the Torah/Pentateuch, as well as Jewish-Christian relations and dialogue, Interreligious Dialogue, and Intercultural Competence, Diversity, and Leadership in Higher Education. He has published ten books with publishers that are both academic (Oxford, Brill, Eisenbrauns, Purdue) and popular (Zondervan, Oneworld, Baker Academic, and Abingdon). His first monograph, Chosen and Unchosen: Conceptions of Election in the Pentateuch and Jewish-Christian Interpretation, was awarded the R. B. Y. Scott Award by the Canadian Society of Biblical Studies for "outstanding book in the areas of Hebrew Bible and/or the Ancient Near East," and more recently his unique tri-authored book, The Abingdon Introduction to the Bible: Understanding Jewish and Christian Scriptures, was awarded the CHOICE Magazine Outstanding Academic Title award for 2014. Lohr's work has been noted not only for its academic strength but also interfaith ingenuity. He has published articles in respected dictionaries and peer-reviewed journals such as the Journal of Biblical Literature, Zeitschrift für die Alttestamentliche Wissenschaft, Catholic Biblical Quarterly, Horizons in Biblical Theology, and Journal of Interreligious Studies (among others).

A longtime advocate of becoming embedded in and living in community, President Lohr lives with his wife Teresa and daughter Aviyah on the Hartford Seminary campus. On weekends, they can be found outdoors hiking, on the beaches of Rhode Island, or on a local ski hill.

Scott Thumma

B.A. (Southwestern University)

M.Div. (Candler School of Theology of Emory University)

Ph.D. (Emory University)

Professor of Sociology of Religion, Director, Hartford Institute for Religion Research, Director, D.Min. Program

Specialization: Megachurches, Congregational Studies, Contemporary American Religion, Religion and the Internet

Scott Thumma is a professor of sociology of religion at Hartford Seminary and conducts research for the Seminary's Hartford Institute for Religion Research. Additionally, he is the director of the school's distance education program. He has published articles and chapters on megachurches and a 2007 book, Beyond Megachurch Myths. He has also written and taught in congregational studies, the study of Pentecostalism, the intersection of homosexuality and Evangelicalism, contemporary conservative Christian movements and the role of the Internet in congregational life. His most recent book, The Other 80%: Turning Your Church's Spectators into Active Disciples (JosseyBass, 2011), is a research based analysis of how to increase member involvement and is filled with practical ministerial suggestions.

Timur Yuskaev

B.A. (Bard College)

M.A. (University of Colorado at Boulder)

Ph.D. (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill)

Associate Professor of Contemporary Islam, and Chief Editor, The Muslim World

Specialization: Qur'anic Studies, Anthropology of the Qur'an, Contemporary Qur'anic Hermeneutics, Islamic homiletics, Muslim Modernities, American and African-American Religious History

Timur Yuskaev is an Associate Professor of Contemporary Islam and co-director of the Islamic Chaplaincy program with Dr. Feryal Salem at Hartford Seminary. His upcoming book, Speaking Qur'an: the Emergence of an American Sacred Text, examines contemporary written and oral interpretations of the Qur'an. This project highlights his academic interest in religions as lived reality, past and current, which he approaches through the lens of Qur'anic hermeneutics, American Religious History and Memory Studies. In his past professional life, and in between degrees and teaching assignments, Dr. Yuskaev served as Coordinator of Educational Programs and Director of Muslims in New York Civic Life Project at the Interfaith Center of New York.

Faculty Associates

Bilal W. Ansari

B.S. (Springfield College)

M.A. (Hartford Seminary)

Dr. Ansari served as Dean of Student Services and Director of Student Life while Zaytuna College was going through initial accreditation.

Dr. Ansari is Director of Campus Engagement at Williams College and Co-Director of Islamic Chaplaincy at Hartford Seminary and Faculty Associate in Muslim Pastoral Theology. Dr. Ansari believes in the notion of shepherding as a Muslim form of institutional leadership. His scholarship and activism includes serving on the Institute of Muslim Mental Health, Professional Advisory Committee and work in the field of Diversity Equity and Inclusion.

Brian Clark

B.A. (Amherst College)

M.T.S. (Harvard Divinity School)

M.Ed. (University of Massachusetts, Boston)

Ph.D. (Boston University)

Faculty Associate in World Christianity, and Director of Instructional Design and Assessment

Specialization: Modern World Christianity, History of Mission, Transatlantic Methodism, Early Evangelicalism, Women in Popular Protestantism, The Design of Instruction, Instruction of Adult Learners

Dr. Clark is the Director of Online Learning and Faculty Associate in World Christianity. Before coming to Hartford Seminary, he served as an Instructional Designer at the University of Hartford, and then he served as Director of Instructional Design at Hebrew High School of New England and the Sigel Hebrew Academy.

Dr. Clark’s academic research has focused on the process through which 18th century Protestant groups split off from each other, creating oppositional identities and cultures. Named “Best Dissertation” by the Wesleyan

Theological Society, his thesis highlights the crucial role that women played in the chaotic rise of the Methodist movement. His ongoing learning and research focuses on the current flowering of Christianity in the Global South.

Suheil Laher

S.B. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology)

M.S. (Marshall University)

M.A. (Boston University)

Ph.D. (Harvard University)

Faculty Associate in Qur'anic Studies

Specialization: Islamic intellectual history, Quran and Hadith studies, Arabic Language, Literature and Rhetoric

Suheil Laher serves as Faculty Associate in Qur'anic Studies. Born and raised in sunny Zimbabwe, he memorized the Qur'an by the age of fourteen. He came to the US as a college student, to study engineering, but the horrific events of 9/11 led him to realize the need to better analyze his own religion, and the need for dialogue with others. He proceeded to earn an MA and PhD (from Boston University and Harvard respectively), and found this academic study to be a valuable part of his personal growth towards a better understand the rich tradition of Islam, the place of religion in the modern world, and the danger of the shallow rhetoric of extremists.

Suheil conducts research in Islamic theology, law, Quran and hadith studies, and has published academic articles, book chapters, encyclopedia articles, and scholarly translations, including two articles in a collected volume published as a concerned Muslim response to and condemnation of terrorism. He has taught at a number of universities and other educational institutes in the United States, including a leading role at Fawakih Institute for Classical Arabic, and he has presented at academic conferences in the US and abroad. Suheil has also benefitted from a number of traditional teachers of the Islamic disciplines, spanning diverse schools of thought and sects, in the US and abroad. He served as Muslim Chaplain at MIT for over ten years, an experience that helped lead him to believe strongly in the value of both inter-religious and intra-Muslim dialogue, with a view to better understanding and fruitful cooperation to help make God's earth a better place.

Phoebe Milliken

B.A. (Bates College)

M.A. (George Washington University)

Faculty Associate in International Peacebuilding and Director, MA in International Peacebuilding

Specialization: Conflict Transformation, Mediation, Experiential Education, Intercultural Communication

Phoebe Milliken has worked in international education since 1996. This work has included: developing literacy programming in Zimbabwe, managing a teacher education project spanning 25 countries in Eastern Europe and Central Asia for the International Literacy Association, teaching courses in African History in the U.S., and directing Augsburg College's study abroad program in Namibia.

Prior to coming to Hartford Seminary, Phoebe spent six years as the program manager for Plowshares Institute, a small peacebuilding non-profit in Connecticut. Plowshares co-founders, Bob and Alice Evans, were twice nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize for their work with community leaders in South Africa during the transition to democracy. The Evans trained Phoebe in conflict transformation theory and practice, and she soon began training community leaders alongside them. While at Plowshares, Phoebe also led travel seminars to South Africa for Connecticut high schools with an emphasis on peacebuilding and peer interaction.

She joined Hartford Seminary in 2015 to lead the International Peacemaking Program, which is now the MA in International Peacebuilding. In this position, she has emphasized experiential education, cohort development, and skill building in constructive conflict intervention, intercultural communication, project planning for social change, public speaking, and facilitation of public dialogue.

Phoebe holds a master's degree in International Education from George Washington University. She lives in Canton with her husband and two lively children.

Lucinda Allen Mosher

B. Mus. (Boston University);

M.Mus.Ed. (Lowell State College);

M.A. (Hartford Seminary);

S.T.M., Th.D. (General Theological Seminary);

Faculty Associate in Interfaith Studies, Co-Director, MA in Chaplaincy, Senior Scholar, Executive and Professional Education, and Senior Editor: Journal of Interreligious Studies

Specialization: America's Religious Diversity, Chaplaincy Models and Methods, Christian-Muslim Relations, Christian Theology

Lucinda Allen Mosher, Th.D., is Faculty Associate in Interfaith Studies. She teaches courses on religious diversity, interfaith understanding, spiritual caregiving, and Christian-Muslim concerns. Concurrently, she represents Hartford Seminary in the publishing of the Journal of Interreligious Studies, for which she is the book review editor. As well, she is the rapporteur of the Building Bridges Seminar—an annual dialogue of Christian and Muslim scholars founded by the Archbishop of Canterbury in 2002 and now under the stewardship of Georgetown University. She sits on the executive committee of the Interfaith Center of Northeast Florida and the Episcopal Church General Convention Task Force to Coordinate Ecumenical and Interreligious Work.

Dr. Mosher is the author of Personhood, Illness, and Death in America's Multifaith Neighborhoods: A Practical Guide (2018); Toward Our Mutual Flourishing: the Episcopal Church, Interreligious Relations, and Theologies of Religious Manyness (2012); and Faith in the Neighborhood—a series on America's religious diversity. With Vineet Chander (Princeton University), she is co-editor of the award-winning Hindu Approaches to Spiritual Care: Chaplaincy in Theory and Practice (2020). With David Marshall (World Council of Churches), she is co-editor of Power—Divine and Human: Christian and Muslim Perspectives (2019) and six earlier volumes of this series on Christian-Muslim comparative theology; she is the sole editor its next offering: A World of Inequalities: Christian and Muslim Perspectives (forthcoming 2020). Dr. Mosher is a contributor to Christian-Muslim Relations: A Bibliographical History (University of Birmingham). Her publications also include numerous book-chapters and journal articles on multifaith matters.

Allison Norton

B.A. (Lee University)

M.A. (Fuller Theological Seminary)

Ph.D. (Fuller Theological Seminary)

Faculty Associate in Migration Studies and Congregational Life, and Project Director, Pastoral Innovation Network of New England

Specialization: Transnationalism, Religious Identities, The New Second Generation, African Pentecostalism

Allison Norton is the Faculty Associate in Migration Studies and Congregational Life. She holds a Ph.D from Fuller Theological Seminary, with her thesis “Passing on the Faith: A Mixed Methods Study of Intergenerational Religious Transmission in Transnational African Immigrant Congregations in the United States.” Her research and publications explore the transnational dimension of African Pentecostalism and the changing American religious landscape, the role of migration on the worldwide expansion of the Christian faith, and the religious identities of the “new” second generation. Allison’s experience with Africans in Ghana and the US included serving as registrar and certificate course educator at the Pan African University College in Winneba, Ghana and her current role as an ordained deaconess of the Church of Pentecost.

Michael Piazza

B.S. (Valdosta State University)
 M.Div. (Candler School of Theology)
 D.Min. Candidate (Hartford Seminary)
 Faculty Associate in Congregational Renewal
 Specialization: Congregational Renewal, Preaching and Worship, Stewardship and Development, Leadership Development, Turn around congregations, Social Justice and Activism, LGBTQ Studies

The Rev. Piazza is a consultant for congregational renewal and stewardship with Agile Church Consulting, the Sr. Pastor of the Virginia-Highland Church, and the author of eleven books – most recently, The Vital Vintage Church. For two decades he served as pastoral leader of the Cathedral of Hope UCC as it grew from 200 members to over 4000.

Donna Schaper

M.A. (Gettysburg College)
 M.A. (University of Chicago)
 M.Div. (Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg)
 D.Min. (Hartford Seminary)
 Honorary Doctorate (Gettysburg College)
 Faculty Associate in Religious Leadership
 Specialization: Leadership Development, Turn around congregations, Start-up Congregations, New Church Starts, Fund and Energy Raising, Pastoral Theology, Public Ministry, Parish Ministry Administration

The Rev. Dr. Donna Schaper, formerly at Coral Gables Congregational Church in Miami and before that at Yale University, is Senior Minister for Judson Memorial Church on the corner of Washington Square Park in Greenwich Village, New York City.

Her 34 published books tell the tale of her interfaith marriage, her pioneer as an ordained woman, her quiet spirituality and noisy activism. Most recently she wrote Prayers for People Who Think They Can't (Abingdon) and Spiritual Preparation for Death and Dying, (Church Publishing).

Benjamin K. Watts

B.A. (Alabama A & M University);
 M.Div. (Yale Divinity School);
 D.Min. (Hartford Seminary);
 Faculty Associate in Religion and Community Life and Director, Black Ministries Program
 Specialization: Urban Ministries, Pastoral Care, Homiletics and Spirituality

Benjamin K. Watts is a Faculty Associate in Religion and Community Life. He also serves as Director of the Black Ministries Program. Dr. Watts believes in the notion of living one's liturgy in an applied context. His commitment to research includes spirituality and public life...living faith in the public square. He has worked to understand the relevance of race and culture in marginalized communities beyond their religious hegemony. Dr. Watts is committed to the interconnectedness of all living things. This theology transcends the parochialism of the Christian context in which he serves. Dr. Watts offers courses in the following areas: the Essential Writings of Howard Thurman, Pastoral Counseling, and the Art of Preaching. He serves as the Senior Pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church in New London, Connecticut.

Visiting Professors

Andrew Gardner

M.Div. (Wake Forest University)

Ph.D. (Florida State University)

Visiting Faculty Associate of American Religious History, Louisville Institute

Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the HIRR

Specialization: American Religious History, The History of Theological Education,

Religion and Race, Spatial Theory and Critical Geography, Baptist Studies

Andrew Gardner is Visiting Faculty Associate of American Religious History and Louisville Institute Postdoctoral Research Fellow. He received his PhD from Florida State University in 2020 writing a dissertation entitled “‘To Awaken the Song of Transport’: The Development of Seminaries and Divinity Schools in Antebellum America.” Andrew holds research interests in American religious history, the history of theological education, religion and race, spatial theory, and Baptist studies. He has published articles in CrossCurrents, The American Baptist Quarterly, Baptist History & Heritage, and Implicit Religion. He is also the author of Reimagining Zion: A History of the Alliance of Baptists (2015). Andrew currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Alliance of Baptists and the Baptist Joint Committee for Religious Liberty.

Hans A. Harmakaputra

BA. (Jakarta Theological Seminary)

MA. (Hartford Seminary)

PhD. (Boston College)

Visiting Assistant Professor in Comparative Theology and Muslim-Christian Relations, Louisville Postdoctoral Fellow

Specialization: Comparative Theology, Muslim-Christian Relations, Intersections between Religion and Politics, Christology, Contextual Theology, Christian Theology of Religions

Hans A. Harmakaputra, Ph.D., is Visiting Assistant Professor in Comparative Theology and Muslim-Christian Relations and Louisville Postdoctoral Fellow. He was born and raised in Indonesia, the country with the biggest Muslim population in the world. As a Chinese-Indonesian Christian from Indonesia, he experienced both religious and cultural diversity that shaped his understanding of the intersection between faith, religion, and politics. After obtaining a degree in theology from Jakarta Theological Seminary (2010), he went to the United States to study at Hartford Seminary with the intention to learn more about interreligious relations and peacebuilding. He developed his interest in Islam and Muslim communities at Hartford Seminary both from inside and outside the classroom and obtained an M.A. degree in Islamic studies and Christian-Muslim Relations (2013). With the learning of Christianity and Islam, he joined the Ph.D. program in Comparative Theology at Boston College. He wrote a dissertation titled “The Community of Friends of God: Comparative Theology and the Construction of an Inclusive Theology of Saints.” It investigates the ways in which Ibn Arabī’s concept of walāya enriches the Christian notion of the communion of saints.

Prior to his appointment at Hartford Seminary, he was a resident scholar at the Collegeville Institute, Minnesota, for the academic year of 2019/2020. He also taught as an adjunct faculty and teaching fellow at Jakarta Theological Seminary, Indonesia (2013/2014), Emmanuel College, Boston (2017/2019), and Boston College (2018/2019). In terms of research, he has authored many articles and book chapters, both in English and Bahasa Indonesia, on topics related to his research interests. His newest article will appear at The Muslim World titled “Say ‘No’ to Christmas? An Analysis of the Islamic Fatwa on the Prohibition of Wearing Non-Muslim’s Attributes in Indonesia.”

Who We Are: A Statistical Description of Our Students

It is not an overstatement to say that the Hartford Seminary student body is the most diverse of any Seminary in the United States and in all probability the world. Our community of learners is made up of both credit seeking graduate students and those seeking to enrich their lives by participating in courses on a non-credit basis. To describe our student body statistically provides only a glimpse of the richness our students experience in the classroom and in the Seminary community.

Graduate Certificate and Degree Programs

Hartford Seminary seeks to model innovative theological and religious education that is contextual, dialogical, and interfaith and is focused on cultivating the leadership potential of its diverse student body. This educational approach:

- takes the historical and experiential sources of religious authority seriously but is necessarily flexible, contextual and dialogical;
- begins with practice and uses the intellectual rigor of theory and method to enhance the student's capacity to be a reflective practitioner;
- grounds persons and institutions in a tradition, while encouraging faith-based engagement in diversity and change.

Enrollment Options

Hartford Seminary's graduate level degree and certificate programs are designed for flexibility. Students can move fluidly among a number of enrollment options depending on their life circumstances. The number of years it will take to complete a program will depend on the number of credits a student is able to take in a given year; however most programs must be completed in four years. The enrollment options include:

Part-time Study

A part-time student is defined as taking six credits or less in a regular semester. Part-time study for Doctor of Ministry students is defined as 3 credits per semester.

Full-time Study

Full-time graduate study consists of a minimum course load of three courses (9 credits) per semester. Full-time study for Doctor of Ministry students consists of a minimum of two courses (6 credits) per semester.

Non-Matriculated Students

Hartford Seminary welcomes students who wish to try out our courses without formally enrolling in a graduate certificate or degree program. There are two options for non-matriculated students, special student status or audit status.

Special Students

Individuals with a bachelor's degree (or its educational equivalent), who wish to take courses for credit, but have not been admitted or matriculated into a Hartford Seminary graduate program, may register to take courses as a Special Student.

Special Students are required to complete all coursework and written assignments and are graded in accordance with the grading policies of Hartford Seminary for degree program students. Special Students are not assigned a faculty advisor; advisors are assigned at the time of admission and matriculation into a graduate program.

Special Students may register for and complete up to 6 credits (two 3-credit courses) before applying and being admitted to Hartford Seminary.

Auditors

All courses (except for Program Specific Courses) are open to auditors on a space available basis. While auditing students are not graded, they are expected to complete readings and other coursework as determined by the faculty member teaching the course.

Registration Process for Non-Matriculated Students

At the time of their first course new Special Students and Auditors apply for non-matriculated student status by completing the Special Student and Auditor Registration Form. Special students must submit an official copy of their bachelor's work, showing degree conferral, before their registration will be processed.

Special Students and auditors are encouraged to register for courses early in the registration period. Please note: Hartford Seminary reserves the right to limit the number of non-matriculated students in each course. Exclusion of non-matriculated students from a course due to over-enrollment will be based on the date of receipt of the course registration form and payment.

Graduate Certificate in Interreligious Studies

Recognizing that flexibility is key to today's student, Hartford Seminary offers an alternative in graduate learning: the 12-credit Graduate Certificate in Interreligious Studies. This program provides opportunities for study without committing to a full degree program and serves as a great way to "test the waters." Enrolled students work with their academic advisor to select four courses that meet their educational objectives.

The Graduate Certificate program may be completed entirely online.

Program of Study

Planning the Graduate Certificate program of study: At the time of admission, students are assigned a faculty advisor. Together, the student and the faculty advisor will select four courses that meet the student's educational objectives. Students will be expected to articulate how the courses they select meet their stated goals. The advisor will be responsible for informing the Dean that all graduate certificate requirements have been met.

Application and Admission

Application deadlines:

- July 15 for the Fall Semester
- December 1 for the Spring Semester

An applicant's file is complete when the following items have been received by the Admissions Office:

1. The application form and application fee of $50.
2. A statement of one page, double-spaced indicating the applicant's educational objectives in pursuing the graduate certificate.
3. Complete official transcripts from all previous undergraduate and graduate institutions.
4. One letter of recommendation from a professor or instructor who can speak to the applicant's academic abilities and potential (preferred), or a professional colleague who can speak to the applicant's ability or potential to manage graduate-level study.

To begin your application visit www.hartsem.edu/admissions/apply-online/. If you are unable to complete the online application, you may also request a paper application by calling our Admissions Office at 860-509-9549.

A Bachelor's degree (or its educational equivalent) at a satisfactory level of achievement from an accredited institution is a prerequisite for admission.

Coursework that was taken for credit as a Special Student at Hartford Seminary prior to admission may be applied toward the credits required for the Graduate Certificate; however, at least 6 credits must be taken after official notification of admission to the Graduate Certificate program.

No transfer credit from other institutions or Advanced Standing credit will be allowed to count toward the Graduate Certificate.

Admission to the Graduate Certificate program does not constitute or guarantee admission to a Master of Arts degree program. Admission is granted only on the basis of the terms stated in this Catalogue and in the admission letter.

Readmission: Please see Academic Policies for Graduate Programs section, page 74.

Application Process to a Master of Arts Degree Program

Students seeking admission to a Master of Arts degree program upon completion of a Graduate Certificate program of study need to provide the following:

1. Completed Master of Arts application (the $50 application fee is waived).
2. A statement of purpose of three to four pages identifying the applicant's personal goals for the Master of Arts program, his/her perceived strengths, and his/her potential areas for development.
3. Original materials from the Graduate Certificate application. Please contact the Registrar's Office to request that your file and Hartford Seminary transcript be released to the Admissions Office.
4. Two Additional letters of recommendation
 - one letter from your faculty advisor
 - one letter from another faculty member with whom you have taken a course
5. Personal interview if required by program.

Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies

The MA in Interreligious Studies (MAIRS) is a 36-credit-hour graduate degree that engages students in advanced academic study of the lived reality of religions in public multifaith contexts. It may also serve as a foundation for those pursuing other professional degrees or as a vehicle for the enhancement of one’s own faith and understanding. The MAIRS program provides a strong grounding in the foundational concepts and methods of Interreligious studies, relations between religions, and the study of lived religious traditions. Students may choose one of three specializations:

1. Interreligious Studies, which provides a flexible course of study based upon the student’s area of interests;
2. Islamic Studies, which focuses on the foundational texts of Islam as they are lived and interpreted by Muslims; and
3. Ministerial Studies, which centers on the Christian tradition and provides initial studies in scripture, theology, history, and the arts of ministry for those who are preparing for ministerial professions or who seek to move on to a Master of Divinity at a partner institution through the Cooperative M.Div. program.

The MAIRS curriculum is built around the engagement of students from different religious traditions who study the various topics and disciplines of religion, and who develop skills in religious performance.

Curriculum Overview

Gateway Course	DI-550: Introduction to Interreligious Studies	3 credits

Specialization (select one of the following options)		24 credits
Interreligious Studies Students will select 8 elective courses (3 credits each) in consultation with their advisor according to the goals outlined in their Annual Advising Plan and Report.	Islamic Studies Foundational Fields - 12 credits Beliefs and Practices - 6 credits Religious Pluralism - 3 credits Elective - 3 credits	Ministerial Studies Scripture - 6 credits Arts of Ministry - 6 credits Foundations of the Christian Faith - 6 credits Beliefs and Practices of the Christian Faith - 6 credits
Final Requirement	MA Thesis or Project	3 credits

Language Proficiency

It is highly recommended for students in the Ministerial Studies and Islamic Studies specializations to demonstrate basic proficiency in reading scriptural texts, such as Hebrew, New Testament Greek or Qur’anic Arabic, prior to the completion of their final requirement. Demonstrating proficiency may be done in several ways: completion of Hartford Seminary courses with a “Pass,” transferred language courses from another accredited educational institution of a “B” or better, certification from an outside language institute, or testing out through a Seminary-proctored exam.

Program Requirements

DI-550: Introduction to Interreligious Studies (3 credits)

The gateway course to the degree, and one shared by the MA in Peacebuilding is DI-550: Introduction to Interreligious Studies, an intersectional, integrative course that promotes deep understanding of worldviews different from one’s own. The course integrates theory and practice in exploring how diverse individuals and groups understand “religion” and how those with differing understandings relate to one another. The course cultivates the dynamic link between theory and practice as it engages in critical investigation of relations between people (whether individuals or groups) who orient around “religion” differently. As an introduction to Interreligious Studies, this course explores such themes as the meaning of “religion,” the discourse of “othering” and theologies of religious difference, comparative theology, interreligious hermeneutics, urban social history methodologies, interreligious dialogue, faith-based collaboration, and more.

Team-Taught Seminars (6 credits)

Two required team-taught interreligious seminars, one offered each semester, over a two-year period. These courses are organized as studies of various topics: scripture, theology, and the history and experience of religious communities in North American society. These courses draw on the expertise and skills of two faculty from different disciplines, and the experience and social location of each student. The themes and scope of the course will change each year.

Students will pick two of the three offered Team-Taught Seminars. The selection might be based on interest, field of study availability, or modality (online or face-to-face):

RS-525: American Religious Realities – Facilitates an understanding of the scope of America’s religious diversity: the nature of its current complexity and factors contributing to its emergence; the mutually influencing interactions between religious communities (their convictions, practices, and structures); and the American contextual trends, such as immigration, political issues, and social drivers like race, ethnicity, or gender. This course is taught with faculty of different traditions or backgrounds, and builds knowledge and skills for study within a multifaith setting.

SC-514: The Sacred Texts as Living Documents – Students will gain an understanding of the socio-historical contexts of sacred texts, being able to explain historical and contemporary approaches to the interpretation of scriptures on a particular topic or theme. This course is taught with faculty of different traditions or backgrounds, and builds knowledge and skills for study within a multifaith setting. (Requirement may also be filled by taking IP-611: Peace, Justice and Violence in the Sacred Texts)

TH-513: The Faiths as Formal Realities – Explores how religious communities move from texts to practices with the use of structured beliefs or traditions, doctrines or approaches; and it will examine how these structures provide guidance or are challenged within specific contexts. This course is taught with faculty of different traditions or backgrounds, and builds knowledge and skills for study within a multifaith setting.

Specialization Requirements (24 credits)

Interreligious Studies Specialization

The Interreligious Studies Specialization provides students the opportunity to tailor a program according to their own academic interests. Offering the most flexibility of the three specializations, students are free to select any course that fulfills an area requirement for the Islamic Studies Specialization or Ministerial Studies Specialization. In close consultation with their academic advisor, students will select eight courses, for a total of 24 credits.

Islamic Studies Specialization

The Islamic Studies Specialization allows the student to explore topics of interest, within three defined areas of study.

Students will be required to fulfill the areas of study as follows:

Foundational Fields (12 Credits)

Courses in the Foundational Fields of Islamic Studies introduce students to the Qur'an, Hadith, and Tafsir literature, the major legal schools, theological, philosophical, and pietistic traditions.

Students may select any four of the following:

- ET-640: Introduction to Islamic Law
- HI-536: Life of the Prophet Muhammad
- HI-624: Histories of Classical Islam: Peoples, Traditions, Institutions
- HI-625: Modern Muslim Histories
- SC-526: Foundational Sources of Islam
- TH-622: God in Muslim Thought

Beliefs and Practices (6 credits)

Courses in Beliefs and Practices of Islam examine the ways in which Muslims of the past and present have understood and practiced their faith and continue to live out their faith tradition in specific contexts.

Students may select any two of the following:

- AM-654: Muslim Public Speaking: History and Practice
- ET-655: Contemporary Islamic Ethics
- RS-631: Race, Religion and Politics
- SC-556: Women in the Qur'an

Religious Pluralism (3 credits)

Courses in Religious Pluralism explore how Muslims have thought about, interacted with, and understood themselves in relation with other religious traditions.

Students may select one of the following:

- HI-523: History of Christianity: Defining Moments that Shaped a Faith
- HI-532: Contemporary World Christianity
- HI-539: Are We Children of Abraham? Exploring the Relationships Between Judaism, Christianity, and Islam
- HI-619: Muslim-Christian Conflict or Cooperation: The Politics of Interpreting Our Shared Past
- HI-628: Muslims in American Religious History
- RS-634-3: Interfaith and Civic Engagement
- SC-715: Gender, Power and Women
- TH-526: Introduction to Black Theology
- TH-611: Theological Approaches to Religious Pluralism
- TH-616: Jesus in Christianity and Islam

Elective Course (3 credits)

Students will also select one Elective (3 credits) course in any of the areas above or a course in the Arabic language.

The Ministerial Studies Specialization

The Ministerial Studies Specialization is intended to provide students with a foundational study of the arts of ministry. Students may also utilize this pathway to complete a Master of Divinity at one of our partner schools through the Cooperative MDiv. Program. Hartford Seminary has partnership agreements with Boston University School of Theology, Chicago Theological Seminary, Drew University, and Yale Divinity School, to accept up to 36 credits for those students who wish to complete a Master of Divinity at one of these schools. Finally, students may also wish to continue on with the professional Master of Arts in Chaplaincy. To do this they must also apply to the Admissions committee for that degree.

Ministerial Studies Specialization courses allow the student to explore topics of interest in their preparation for ministry, or transfer to a Master of Divinity program at a partner institution, as outlined above. Cooperative MDiv. Students should review the “Advising Guidelines” of each partner school. They should also consult closely with their advisor each semester.

Students will be required to fulfill the four areas of study as follows:

Scripture (6 credits)

Courses in the Scripture will introduce students to the scholarly study of the Hebrew Bible and the Christian New Testament as sacred Scriptures, and to their relation to the historic contexts out of which they arose. They will be introduced to the original languages and to the primary methods used by different faith communities to interpret them.

Students may select any two of the following:

- SC-522: Hebrew Bible Survey
- SC-531: New Testament Survey
- SC-540: The Synoptic Gospels
- SC-639-2: The World of the Prophets
- SC-715: Gender, Power and Women

Arts of Ministry (6 credits)

Courses in the Arts of Ministry will introduce students into the theological rationale and demonstrate basic knowledge and skills in ministry, such as preaching, counseling, and the various requirements of congregational leadership within an ecumenical and multifaith setting.

Students may select any two of the following:

- AM-604-3: Theologies of Chaplaincy: Bringing God into the Multifaith Encounter on the Edge of Religion
- AM-625: The Art of Preaching
- AM-638: Essential Skills in Pastoral Counseling and Ministry
- AM-667-2: Interfaith Leadership in Times of Crisis
- AM-674: LGBTQ History & Theory
- AM-731-2: Psychology of Trauma
- CH-520: Theology and Scripture in Spiritual Care Practice
- CH-530: Chaplaincy Models and Methods
- CH-730: Resilience for Spiritual Leaders
- IP-510: Constructive Conflict Intervention
- RS-634-3: Interfaith and Civic Engagement

Foundations of the Christian Faith (6 credits)

The Foundations of the Christian faith requirement provides students the opportunity to examine the foundations and development of Christian faith, its major, doctrines, traditions, the important historical moments of the Christian tradition, and the ability to articulate the differences with other religious traditions

Students may select any two of the following:

- HI-523: History of Christianity: Defining Moments that Shaped a Faith
- HI-532: Contemporary World Christianity
- TH-505: Introduction to Christian Theology
- TH-526: Introduction to Black Theology
- TH-605: Contextual Theologies

Beliefs and Practices (6 credits)

The Beliefs and Practices requirement provides students the opportunity to analyze how Christian communities of the past and present have understood and practiced their faith, and continue to live out their faith tradition in specific contexts.

Students may select any two of the following:

DI-501: Introduction to Islam for Non-Muslims

HI-617: The Politics of Religious Liberty

HI-628: Muslims in American Religious History

IP-612: Religious Leadership for Peaceful Change

RS-602: Understanding Congregations

RS-612: None's Religion: Understanding and Addressing the Religiously Unaffiliated Population

RS-631: Race, Religion and Politics

RS-634-3: Interfaith and Civic Engagement

TH-611: Theological Approaches to Religious Pluralism

TH-616: Jesus in Christianity and Islam

Final Requirement (3 credits)

Students will select between a final project or thesis. Completion of a thesis is strongly recommended for students considering further graduate study, particularly a Ph.D., at any point in their future. Students in the Ministerial Studies specialization who intend to transfer to one of our partner schools to complete the M.Div. will take an additional elective instead of completing a final requirement.

Learning Outcomes

1. Gain a strong grounding in the discipline of interreligious studies, being able to demonstrate fluency in the foundational concepts, insights and methods of interreligious studies and the application of those methods within contemporary lived multifaith realities.
2. Benefit from the formal study of and immersion in interreligious studies within a multifaith classroom context, which requires the knowledge, skills, and attitudes required for respectful and substantive dialogue.
3. Be introduced to the interdisciplinary study of contemporary religious communities analyzing the impact of local, social and political contexts on beliefs and practices.
4. Gain an understanding of the role of the sacred texts of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, being able to explain contemporary and historical approaches to the interpretation of scripture, as well as to recognize various communal and individual approaches to scriptures.
5. Examine the lived and historic theological or legal traditions within Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, being able to explain how communities move from the text to structured beliefs and traditions, approaches, and doctrines within various communities.
6. Conduct regular, advanced level research in the field of interreligious studies that enables them to articulate their own experiences and understandings, using responsible research methods, proper citation methods, and careful judgement in selecting and interpreting sources.

Application and Admission

Application deadlines:

- July 15 for the Fall Semester; to be considered for financial aid, separate Applications for Financial Assistance must be completed and submitted to the Financial Aid Office by June 1st.
- December 1 for the Spring Semester.

Application Requirements:

1. Prior Education: Complete official transcripts from all previous undergraduate and graduate institutions must be submitted to the Admission's Office. A bachelor's degree (or its educational equivalent) at a high level of achievement from an accredited institution is a prerequisite for admission. Admission is granted only on the basis of the terms stated in the Hartford Seminary Catalogue and in the admission letter. In unusual circumstances, a limited number of highly qualified students without the requisite Bachelor's Degree will be considered for admission; please refer to the Non-BA Admission Policy on page 42. Applicants possessing international education credentials are required to submit transcripts in English or accompanied by a certified English translation. Non-U.S. transcripts must be evaluated by a credential evaluation service such as wes.org or by a member organization of NACES (www.naces.org)
2. Statement of Purpose: Each Statement of Purpose is unique and is meant to be an expression of the individuals that write them. We want to know what is important to you, what has shaped you, and, ultimately, who you are. You have the opportunity to tell us about the aspects of your character and experience that help us understand why you are a good match with this program. We also want to know how you would both gain from and contribute to our unique environment. The Statement of Purpose should be four to five pages (typed, double-spaced) and should reflect on:
 - your goals in seeking theological education and the life experiences or values that have led you to do so;
 - the reasons you have chosen Hartford Seminary, in particular;
 - your educational/ vocational goals;
 - your perceived strengths and potential areas for development.
3. References: Three letters of recommendation. At least one letter must be from a faculty member of an institution from which the applicant has earned a degree or another person who can speak to the applicant's potential for graduate level or a person from the applicant's religious community or work place who can speak to the applicant's potential for graduate level study.
4. English Language Proficiency: Students who are not native English speakers or who have not had English as a primary language of instruction in their academic studies, are required to submit scores of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) examination and achieve a minimum score of 80 on the internet version of TOEFL or 550 on the paper-based total; or 6.5 on the IELTS.

All completed applications are reviewed by the Admissions Committee. To begin your application visit www.hartsem.edu/admissions/apply-online/. If you are unable to complete the online application, you may also request a paper application by calling our Admissions Office at 860-509-9549.

Transfer Credit

Applicants who have previously taken graduate level courses in religion from an accredited institution may be eligible for up to 9 credits of transfer credit. Requests concerning transfer credit should be made at the time of application.

Cooperative Master of Divinity Program

Hartford Seminary has cooperative agreements with Boston University School of Theology (BUSTH), Chicago Theological Seminary (CTS), Drew Theological School (DUTS) and Yale Divinity School (YDS) that allow qualified MA in Interreligious Studies students with a specialization in Ministerial Studies, to begin their studies at Hartford Seminary and, if accepted, to proceed to either of the cooperating seminaries to pursue a Master of Divinity (M.Div.) degree. These cooperative agreements allow students to transfer up to 36 credits of coursework.

The specific policies and procedures governing the cooperative Master of Divinity program are covered in detail in a document called "Procedures for Students in Hartford Seminary's Cooperative Master of Divinity Program" available online from the Seminary's website.. It is very important that students choosing to proceed with this option obtain this document at the beginning of their studies at Hartford Seminary and consult with their faculty advisor carefully when selecting courses at Hartford Seminary.

In general, any student choosing to pursue the Cooperative Master of Divinity Program option needs to be aware of the following:

- Students must apply to the Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies program, indicating their interest in the Ministerial Studies specialization and their intent to transfer to a partner institution.
- Once matriculated, students should meet with the Academic Dean for an advising session regarding their intention to apply to a partner institution.
- Before applying to a partner institution, the student must be in good standing and must have completed at least 24 credits at Hartford Seminary. At least 12 of the 24 credits must have been earned in courses taught by at least two different core faculty or faculty associates.
- When applying to any of our partner institutions, a letter of reference will be supplied by the Academic Dean's office, as one of the required recommendation letters.
- For students intending to matriculate to YDS, be aware that YDS will not transfer in week-long intensive courses taken at Hartford Seminary during the January or June terms or any asynchronous courses taken online.

Application and Admission

The application and admission processes for the Cooperative Master of Divinity program are the same processes that apply to application, admission and financial aid for the MA in Interreligious Studies program at Hartford Seminary. Please see the MA in Interreligious Studies - Application and Admission section on page 29 for complete information.

Master of Arts in Chaplaincy

The Master of Arts in Chaplaincy (MAC) is designed to equip students to serve as chaplains in many settings – from hospitals and prisons to universities, the military, and beyond. The MAC provides rigorous preparation for chaplaincy service in the interreligious environment of Hartford Seminary, and it offers an optional specialization in Islamic Chaplaincy. As part of the Islamic Chaplaincy Program at Hartford Seminary, students can take the MAC degree with a specialization in Islamic Chaplaincy after completing the MAIRS degree with a specialization in Islamic Studies (see page 34).

The MA in Chaplaincy equips students to integrate spiritual caregiving theory and practice by combining classwork and Field Education, Clinical Pastoral Education and individual advisement. The program provides students the concrete skills necessary for working in a multifaith environment, preparing them to meet the “Common Qualifications and Competencies for Professional Chaplains” published by the Board of Chaplaincy Certification, Inc. (BCCI) and the “Standards of Practice for Professional Chaplains” of the Association of Professional Chaplains.

The MAC is a 36-credit degree program that can be completed in two years by a full-time student. The program can be completed online, but it may take a distance student more than two years to complete.

Curriculum Overview

Core Courses	12 credits
Elective Courses	15 credits
Field Education	6 credits
Clinical Pastoral Education	3 credits

Required Core Courses (12 credits)

Specialization in Islamic Chaplaincy

Students in the Islamic Chaplaincy specialization will take CH-618: Muslim Pastoral Theology and, with advisement from the Program Director, select any four of the following:

AM-654: Muslim Public Speaking: History and Practice
 AM-659: Prison Ministry: Healing From the Inside Out
 AM-692: Basics of Counseling Technique
 AM-731-2: Psychology of Trauma
 CH-615: Mental Health: A Spiritual Perspective
 CH-725: Advanced Counseling Technique
 ET-640: Introduction to Islamic Law
 ET-643: The Higher Objectives of Islamic Law
 HI-625: Modern Muslim Histories
 SC-526: Foundational Sources of Islam

Field Education (6 credits)

Field Education for the MA in Chaplaincy is under the supervision of the Director of Field Education. The aim of the two-semester (6 credit) practicum is for students to engage in the practice of chaplaincy and have structured reflection on the integration of the theory and practice of chaplaincy. Students will gather in reflection groups, which will be taught in person. Remote students will have separate reflection groups. Chaplaincy Students must pass a year one oral integrative exam to engage in their first unit of field education, and successfully complete the first unit in order to register for the second unit. Students must meet with the Director of Field Education and one of the Chaplaincy Co-Directors to discuss appropriate field-education placements. The class will be graded Pass/Fail.

Clinical Pastoral Education (3 credits)

Students must complete one full unit of ACPE accredited Clinical Pastoral Education. Students can substitute one additional unit of CPE as an elective; the additional unit of CPE must be level II or higher. Students must meet with the Director of Field Education to discuss appropriate CPE sites. The class will be graded Pass/Fail.

Learning Outcomes

1. As captured in the BCCI competencies, students will be able to use the intellectual, interpersonal, and professional skills needed to provide chaplaincy care in complex, pluralistic environments. These are described in the Sections I-IV of the Common Qualifications and Competencies for Professional Chaplains, set by the Board of Chaplaincy Certification Inc. These include:
 - Section I: Integration of Theory and Practice Competencies
 - Section II: Professional Identity and Conduct Competencies
 - Section III: Professional Practice Skills Competencies
 - Section IV: Organizational Leadership Competencies
2. Graduates will have demonstrated knowledge of the Association of Professional Chaplains' fifteen "Standards of Practice for Professional Chaplains."
3. Graduates will have command of the Association of Professional Chaplains Code of Ethics, the evidence for this being recorded on Hartford Seminary's "Code of Ethics Worksheet."
4. Graduates will have a working knowledge in scriptural languages, and/or ability to recite passages from scripture.

Application and Admission

Application deadlines

- July 15 for the Fall Semester; to be considered for financial aid, separate Applications for Financial Assistance must be completed and submitted to the Financial Aid Office by June 1st.
- December 1 for the Spring Semester.

Application Requirements

1. Prior Education: Complete official transcripts from all previous undergraduate and graduate institutions must be submitted to the Admission's Office. A bachelor's degree (or its educational equivalent) at a high level of achievement from an accredited institution is a prerequisite for admission. Admission is granted only on the basis of the terms stated in the Hartford Seminary Catalogue and in the admission letter. Applicants possessing international education credentials are required to submit transcripts in English or accompanied by a certified English translation. Non-U.S. transcripts must be evaluated by a credential evaluation service such as wes.org or by a member organization of NACES (www.naces.org)
2. Statement of Purpose: Each Statement of Purpose is unique and is meant to be an expression of the individuals that write them. We want to know what is important to you, what has shaped you, and, ultimately, who you are. You have the opportunity to tell us about the aspects of your character and experience that help us understand why you are a good match with this program. We also want to know how you would both gain from and contribute to our unique environment. The Statement of Purpose should be four to five pages (typed, double-spaced) and should reflect on:
 - your goals in seeking theological education and the experiences or values that have led you to do so;
 - the reasons you have chosen Hartford Seminary, in particular;
 - your educational/ vocational goals;
 - your perceived strengths and potential areas for development;
 - the life experiences that have most significantly shaped you in terms of your interest in chaplaincy
3. References: Three letters of recommendation. At least one letter must be from a faculty member of an institution from which the applicant has earned a degree or another person who can speak to the applicant's potential for graduate level study; at least one recommendation must be from an individual who can speak to the applicant's potential for service as a chaplain.
4. English Language Proficiency: Students who are not native English speakers or who have not had English as a primary language of instruction in their academic studies, are required to submit scores of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) examination and achieve a minimum score of 80 on the internet version of TOEFL or 550 on the paper based total; or 6.5 on the IELTS.
5. Interview: An interview with a Chaplaincy Program co-Director will be scheduled once the items listed above are submitted.

All completed applications are reviewed by the Admissions Committee. To begin your application visit www.hartsem.edu/admissions/apply-online/. If you are unable to complete the online application, you may also request a paper application by calling our Admissions Office at 860-509-9549.

Islamic Chaplaincy Program

Since 2001, Hartford Seminary's renowned Islamic Chaplaincy Program has produced professionals who are now leaders in the field of chaplaincy. These chaplains serve in diverse settings in federal prisons, armed services, in private and public hospitals, and higher education.

Twenty years on, the Islamic Chaplaincy Program has once again developed an innovative pathway to the profession of Chaplaincy for Muslim students. The new Islamic Chaplaincy curriculum has based its learning outcomes on the Association of Professional Chaplains' Common Qualifications and Competencies for Professional Chaplains. The core requirements integrate theories with practices of chaplaincy rooted in the Islamic tradition. The goal is to produce chaplains who demonstrate the following abilities and qualities:

- Are self-reflective in their professional identity and conduct.
- Apply institutional and organizational knowledge in their professional practice as religious leaders.

The new Islamic Chaplaincy Program builds on the current strengths of Hartford Seminary, which include:

- the strong academic curriculum developed by excellent scholar-practitioner faculty;
- the interfaith orientation, work, and scholarship of the Duncan Black Macdonald Center for the Study of Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations; and
- the expertise of the Hartford Institute for Religion Research in working with active faith communities.

Pathways through the Islamic Chaplaincy Program:

There are two pathways to professional positions in Islamic chaplaincy. The choice of the right degree program depends on the academic, Islamic, and professional training and experience with which a student enters the Seminary.

1. Applicants who wish to gain both mastery over relevant academic fields and the skills and aptitudes of professional chaplaincy should apply to the 36-credit hour academic Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies (MAIRS) with a specialization in Islamic Studies. Upon completion of this degree, students will continue on to the professional Master of Arts in Chaplaincy (MAC), with a specialization in Islamic Chaplaincy. This pathway is a 72-credit program that combines academic study and practical training. The two degrees may not be done concurrently.
2. Applicants with prerequisite knowledge and significant professional practice of chaplaincy who interview successfully with the director of the MAC program and are approved by the Admissions Committee may elect to matriculate directly into the Master of Arts in Chaplaincy (MAC).

Note: The United States Armed Forces expects students who want to be military chaplains to earn at least 81 credit hours worth of graduate level work. This would require completion of both the Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies and the Master of Arts in Chaplaincy with at least three additional courses.

Faculty Mentoring

In consultation with the Director of the Islamic Chaplaincy Program, each student's program will be customized to meet their particular educational needs and professional/vocational objectives within the formal guidelines and criteria established for the Islamic Chaplaincy Program at Hartford Seminary. Depending on the applicant's previous education, experience, and the applicant's future goals and intended career path, the applicant may be required to complete both degrees of the Islamic Chaplaincy Program. For further information, contact the Admissions Office at admissions@hartsem.edu.

Financial Aid and Scholarships

For information about financial assistance available through Hartford Seminary see the Financial Aid and Scholarship Information for Graduate Students section of the catalogue on page 57. In addition to the general options listed there, there are two financial assistance programs available through the seminary only for Islamic Chaplaincy students.

FADEL Education Foundation and Hartford Seminary Prison Chaplaincy Scholarship: As the scholarship's name states, only students who will pursue careers in Correctional chaplaincy are eligible for this program. Contact the director of the Islamic chaplaincy program for further information.

Master of Arts in International Peacebuilding

The Master of Arts in International Peacebuilding (MAP) is a one-year, 36-credit, professional master’s degree which develops students’ capacity to build vibrant, healthy inter-and-intra-religious relationships. Students will develop interreligious literacy and acquire constructive conflict intervention skills through a combination of service learning, traditional courses, experiential courses, and project-based learning.

MAP students will be deeply engaged in creating their own transformative experience through the living and learning environment, extensive community engagement, experience-based learning, and reflective practices threaded throughout their academic work. Among other topics, students will study: the history and theology of the Abrahamic faiths, peace and violence in scripture, religious leadership, project planning, mediation, trauma awareness, and restorative justice. The student cohort will be in residence at Hartford Seminary for an academic year before completing their degree with a relationship-building capstone project in their home country or community.

Curriculum Overview

Semester	Course	Credits
August	IP-500: Introduction to Peacebuilding	3 credits
Fall Semester	DI-550: Introduction to Interreligious Studies	3 credits
	IP-511: Restorative History: Building Peace after Collective Trauma	3 credits
	IP-510: Constructive Conflict Intervention	3 credits
	IP-520: Field Education I	3 credits
Intercession	IP-610: Peacebuilding Skills: Trauma & Restorative Justice	3 credits
Spring Semester	IP-611: Peace, Justice, and Violence In Sacred Texts	3 credits
	IP-612: Religious Leadership for Peaceful Change	3 credits
	Elective	3 credits
	IP-620: Field Education II	3 credits
Summer Semester	IP-613: Identity and Otherness in Religious Communities (ONLINE)	3 credits
	Capstone: Project Proposal /Personal Action Proposal -OR- Project Report/Personal Action Report	3 credits

Capstone Project or Personal Action Plan

There are four options for MAP capstones. Choosing the correct option will depend on whether or not a student is returning to a community they know well, and if they must complete their degree work in 12 months or can take some additional time (up to 16 months maximum). The four options are summarized in the matrix below.

	Returning to home community	Moving to new community
Complete work in 12 months	Student completes a Project Proposal	Student completes a Personal Action Proposal
Take up to 16 months	Student works on a Project	Student works on a Personal Action Plan

Projects vs. Personal Action Plans

Project: Students who are returning to jobs/congregations/communities they have been part of for a while will likely have opportunities to work on a project around a need that their workplace, congregation, or community has already identified. Projects address a need or solve a problem in a community; they are not simply doing things the student believes to be beneficial.

Personal Action Plan: Students who are less well integrated into the places they will go after their time at Hartford Seminary will instead map out their own theory of change as a peacebuilder, plan and begin actions they will take in relation to what they learned at Hartford Seminary in order to be an agent of that change.

Students completing their work in 12 months will submit their proposals by the end of July. Students who take more than 12 months and begin work on their projects or personal action plans will submit a report in November. There is no expectation that projects will be finished. Instead, the report will describe the work that has been done, celebrate successes, analyze obstacles faced, and most importantly, reflect on what they have learned in the process of trying to apply what they studied at Hartford Seminary.

Experience-based Learning

MAP will emphasize Experience-based Learning (EbL) throughout the program. We recognize that significant learning takes place outside of the classroom, and by engaging in good EbL practices, we can help students make that learning meaningful in ways which achieve program outcomes. Hartford Seminary will use a multi-part EbL learning model that emphasizes preparation prior to an experience to evoke prior knowledge and set learning goals. After an experience, reflection is critical to allow students to construct meaning from that experience.

MAP students will encounter EbL in multiple ways:

- Practical and applied courses: Courses such as Constructive Conflict Intervention and Peace Skills: Trauma and Restorative Justice will use case studies, role-plays, and simulations to build skills.
- Field Education: service placements are by nature experiential, and preparation and frequent reflection activities will allow students to learn from these experiences. Students will also be studying project planning concepts and tools, which they will learn through simulations and reflection on the workings of their service placements.
- Courses with added EbL components: many other courses will include case studies, site visits and guest speakers. Instructors will employ the EbL model of preparation and reflection to make sure those are rich learning experiences.
- Living and learning environment: Students learn a great deal from their life together on the Hartford Seminary campus. In the reflection components of their coursework, they will be invited to share how those experiences are shaping them as inter-religious peacebuilders.

Learning Outcomes

Overall Program Outcome: Equip students to pursue peacebuilding in religious settings and to use religion as a catalyst for peacebuilding.

Peacebuilding Capacity

- Building the internal resources necessary to engage conflict constructively.
 - Investigate your own inner world, including your motivations for participating in peacebuilding work, the mindsets you bring to conflict, the biases you may hold, and your reactions to complexity and ambiguity.
 - Reflect on how your faith and culture influence your motivations, mindsets, biases, and reactions.
 - Cultivate your ability to recognize emotions in yourself and others, and respond empathically to the experience of others.
- Nurturing communities that foster inclusivity and compassion. Practicing and modeling skills which build healthy relationships – within the group and with other groups.
 - Develop relational skills and dispositions such as active listening, empathic communication, and sharing stories.
 - Learn how to lead groups into safely engaging across significant differences.
- Applying conflict transformation theories and processes. Developing the capacity to choose among theories or tools, or adapt them as needed to situations of conflict and injustice.
 - Explain and apply theories of social change, including web-building, contact theory, and complex contagion.
 - Practice using analytical tools, including problem mapping, conflict analysis, and stakeholder analysis.
 - Practice using peacebuilding processes, including mediation, negotiation, dialogue, and restorative practices.
 - Cultivate creativity and agency in envisioning, expressing, and promoting hopeful change.

Interreligious Literacy

- Gaining fluency in Interreligious Studies:
 - Explain and use important theoretical approaches to religious studies.
 - Identify how religions act as vehicles for moral, ethical, and political discourse.
 - Recognize how religions help people promote peace or harm within and between communities.
- Demonstrating knowledge of Christianity, Judaism, Islam, and their mutual relations.
 - Articulate the basic teachings, practices, and emphases of the Muslim, Christian, and Jewish faiths, while recognizing important differences within each tradition.
 - Demonstrate general awareness of the history of relations between Jews, Christians, and Muslims.
 - Recognize how aspects of each tradition have been used to facilitate peacebuilding and how aspects of each tradition have been used for harm.
 - Develop the willingness and capacity to critique the traditions and movements one is a part of, including shared stances toward the other.
- Taking part in interreligious study, dialogue, and community through immersion.
 - Make space for the daily practices of the other in a shared setting where the ways that people pray, eat, prepare food, dress, and relate to each other are experienced as part of coexisting in community.
 - Recognize aspects of what it means to be Christian, Jewish, or Muslim through the eyes and experience of your religious neighbor.

Application and Admission

Applications for the fall semester must be completed by March 1 for international students and by March 15 for U.S. students.

Admissions Requirements:

1. Prior Education: Complete official transcripts from all previous undergraduate and graduate institutions must be submitted to the Admission's Office. A bachelor's degree (or its educational equivalent) at a high level of achievement from an accredited institution is a prerequisite for admissions. Admission is granted only on the basis of the terms stated in the Hartford Seminary Catalogue and in the admission letter.

Applicants are required to present transcripts in English or accompanied by a certified English translation. Non-U.S. transcripts must be evaluated by a credential evaluation service such as wes.org or by a member organization of NACES (www.naces.org)

2. Statement of Purpose: Each Statement of Purpose is unique and is meant to be an expression of the individuals that write them. We want to know what is important to you, what has shaped you, and, ultimately, who you are. You have the opportunity to tell us about the aspects of your character and experience that help us understand why you are a good match with this program. We also want to know how you would both gain from and contribute to our unique environment.

The Statement of Purpose should reflect on:

- your goals in seeking theological education and the experiences or values that have led you to do so;
- the reasons you have chosen Hartford Seminary, in particular;
- your educational/ vocational goals;
- the life experiences that have most significantly shaped you in terms of your interest in interfaith engagement and/or peacebuilding;
- any particular issues in your community about which you are passionate.

Required length: 750-1200 words (three to five pages typed, double-spaced)

3. References: Three letters of recommendation (one academic, one related to peacebuilding or interfaith work, one character) are required.
4. Interview: Applicants who meet the minimum educational requirements and whose Statements of Purpose align with the program's mission and goals will be contacted for an interview by the program director.
5. International Applicants: International applicants must also provide proof of a valid passport at the time of application.
6. English Language Proficiency: Students who are not native English speakers are required to submit scores of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) examination and achieve a minimum score of 80 on the internet version of TOEFL or 550 on the paper based total; or 6.5 on the IELTS.

Transfer Credit

Transfer credit will not be granted.

Financial Aid and Scholarships

Full scholarships are available for 2021-22 academic year.

Non-BA Admission

At Hartford Seminary we recognize that there are adult learners who, for a variety of reasons, have not completed formal undergraduate education, but still possess the ability and potential to complete professional graduate level work. In accordance with ATS standards, this admission process provides access to formal theological education for those who meet the following requirements for our Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies degree.

Minimum Admission Requirements

- 1. 15 Undergraduate credits with grades of B or better, including course work in English language or Literature, and the Humanities or Social Sciences.
OR
Certification of attendance at a foreign educational or religious institution at the post-secondary level.
- 2. Statement of Purpose
 - A three-page statement to include how the applicant's professional life, education, training, and experiences have prepared the student for graduate study at Hartford Seminary.
- 3. Writing Proficiency Evaluation
 - All applicants who have completed requirements one and two will be evaluated for writing proficiency. It will have three possible determinations: "Not yet ready to write at the graduate level, Able to write at the graduate level with support, Able to write at the graduate level without support." Only students scoring at that last, highest level will be advanced to the Admissions Committee for review.
- 4. Evidence of ministry experience and/or competency in one's religious tradition
 - This admissions process is intended for those mature adult learners who have not been able to complete their formal undergraduate education but possess significant life experience as it relates to theological education, ministry, or one's practice of religious tradition.

Applicants who meet all of the above criteria will be reviewed by the Admissions Committee which will determine "Conditional Acceptance" or "Denial."

Applicants who receive "Conditional Acceptance" will be reviewed by the Admissions Committee once they have completed two graded Hartford Seminary courses in different academic areas in their first year of study.

Ph.D. Program in Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations

For more than a century, the Macdonald Center for the Study of Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations has embodied Hartford Seminary's commitment to the study of Islam and Christianity and the complex relationship between the two religions throughout history and in the modern world. This Ph.D. program will continue the Seminary's long legacy of educating and training experts in Christian-Muslim relations. It will provide advanced study in the knowledge and practical application of Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim relations and train scholars who will be experts in this area. We envision graduates of this program will further the mission and purpose of Hartford Seminary as professors at institutions of higher education, independent scholars and experts in Christian-Muslim relations, and as leaders or directors of organizations that are involved in interfaith work.

The learning objectives of this program are for the students to acquire:

- comprehensive knowledge in Islamic Studies, Christian-Muslim Relations, and Interreligious Engagement/Interfaith Dialogue
- competence to produce original research and written works to advance the scholarship on Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations for the benefit of religious communities, academy, and society
- knowledge, skills and competence to teach in these subjects in religious communities and academia

Admission Requirements

The Ph.D. program seeks international and domestic students who know about the reputation of Hartford Seminary's long-standing work on Christian-Muslim relations and are interested specifically in Christian-Muslim relations. All applications will be reviewed by the Admissions Committee that is made up of three faculty members and the Director of Recruitment and Admissions. Applicants are required to have earned the Master of Arts in Religious Studies with the focused area in Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations from Hartford Seminary or other accredited college or university or a Master of Divinity or equivalent from an accredited institution, prior to their enrollment into this program. At least one year of classical Arabic or equivalent is required at the time of admission (there will be a mandatory test for all Ph.D. students in the first week of the program to evaluate academic proficiency of Qur'anic and classical Arabic). The following materials are also required:

- Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores;
- Students who do not have English as a first language, or as a primary language in previous academic studies, are required, prior to application, to take either the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) examination and achieve a minimum score of 550 (written version), 213 (computer version) or 80 (internet version), or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) and achieve a minimum score of 6.5;
- three letters of recommendation;
- all official transcripts from tertiary institutions applicants attended (for international students, certified, translated and evaluated international transcripts);
- 20-25 page sample scholarly paper;
- and approximately 1,000 word personal statement outlining the student's reasons for applying to this program.

Program Curriculum and Requirements

The Ph.D. curriculum consists of 36 credit hours of course work, 12 credits for the comprehensive exams, and 36 credits for the dissertation, for 84 total credit hours. There are two Ph.D. Seminars required which will focus on research methods and skills and student development as scholars. Then the students will choose, in consultation with their advisor, an additional ten courses in the traditional theological disciplines in order to acquire sufficient knowledge to begin identifying and formulating their dissertation topics. Students will be required to write papers related to the study of Islam and Christian-Muslim relations in all courses they take. After successful course work, students will spend one year preparing and taking the comprehensive exams and formulating and defending their dissertation proposals. Finally, after successful comprehensive exams, students will write and defend their dissertations in their fourth and fifth year.

The sufficient proficiency and knowledge of Qur’anic and classical Arabic is critical to the success of this program. One of the requirements for admission to this program is that applicants need to have at least one year of classical or Qur’anic Arabic at the time of admission. There will be a mandatory test for all Ph.D. students after one year in the program to demonstrate academic proficiency of Qur’anic and classical Arabic. The intended language goal for the program is to train students to have the sufficient proficiency and knowledge to work with classical/Qur’anic Arabic in their study and research. In the second year of course work, students must also demonstrate mastery of at least one additional language relevant to their subject of dissertation and academic scholarship.

Three Stages of Ph.D. Program

The PhD program consists of three stages of study in which the students are expected to 1) complete their coursework and language requirements, 2) shape their doctoral research agenda and pass their exams, and 3) research, complete and defend their dissertation.

Sample curriculum and timeline

Stage	Year	Fall	Spring
I	1	Ph.D. Seminar 1 (3 credits) Core & Electives (6 credits)	Core & Electives (9 credits) * Language exam I
	2	Core & Electives (9 credits)	Ph.D. Seminar 2 (3 credits) Core & Electives (6 credits) * Language exam II
II	3	Comprehensive Exams	Comprehensive Exams * Dissertation proposal defense
III	4-5	Dissertation	Dissertation

1) Stage One:

Stage One is intended to be 2 years-long, 36 credit hours. Students are required to complete a certain amount of courses and to prepare themselves to begin formulating their doctoral research proposal and producing preliminary draft of it.

Within the 36 credit hour requirement, students must take at least one course in each of the following subject areas at the 600 level or higher; Christian or Muslim Theology, Religion and Society, Sacred Scriptures (Bible and/or Qur’an), Ethics, History, and Worship and Spirituality. Students must also take an additional 12 elective credits to reach the 36-hour requirement. Language courses do not count in this 36 credit hour requirement. Students should choose their courses in consultation with their program advisor and directly in accordance to its relevance to the subject they plan to write their dissertation on.

Students may only take 600 level courses or higher. If enrolled in a 600 level course, PhD students should expect to do additional work beyond the MA level including extra assignments such as additional book readings and larger term papers.

Students may opt for independent studies or guided reading courses with relevant faculty, with the permission of their advisor and the faculty member responsible for the course. The requirements of these courses must meet the standards of an upgraded 600 level course.

Linguistic Efficiency:

Students must acquire sufficient academic knowledge and comprehension of at least two of the languages (excluding English) they will need to pursue their doctoral research. Applicants must have at least one year of classical or Qur'anic Arabic at the time of admission. All students must pass a mandatory test after one year in the program to demonstrate academic proficiency of Qur'anic and classical Arabic. Because sufficient proficiency and knowledge of Qur'anic and classical Arabic is critical to the success of this program, students are encouraged to avail themselves of the advanced Arabic courses offered by the Seminary. Hartford Seminary will examine the students' linguistic competency through an exam offered to students near the end of the spring semester of the first year. An Arabic language examination team of Seminary faculty will attend to this task.

Students must also demonstrate mastery of at least one additional language relevant to their subject of dissertation and academic scholarship and will be tested on this mastery in the second year of course work. Consult the student advisor regarding these language requirements and testing. It is the student's responsibility to acquire an adequate knowledge of additional foreign languages and provide conclusive evidence that they have knowledge of and ability to use the language in academic pursuits. Failure to pass the two language exams will result in the student not being allowed to proceed to the second stage of the PhD program.

Supervision and Assessment of Progress and Qualifications:

Students will have two forms of academic supervision during their PhD program:

- 1- Program Advisor: During the first and second stages of the PhD program, students will be supervised by the Director of the PhD Program, who is going to serve as their Program Advisor. This advisor shall meet with students twice every semester (one meeting at the beginning of the semester and one meeting at the end of it), and whenever students request additional meetings throughout the first two stages of the program. It will be the duty of this advisor to:
 - A. guide students through all the stages of their study and aid them in relation to all kind of administrative and academic matters related to the overall process of the program.
 - B. Advise them on the course load by:
 - thinking with them about the elective courses they might consider taking in the light of the student's research subject of interest
 - listening to and consulting with them on any concern, challenge or need related to courses and a student's experience in the program
 - attending to any general inquiry or need the student seeks help with in relation to any part of the program.
 - C. Assess the students' progress and manifested qualifications to decide with the PhD Committee whether or not students are proceeding as expected and are demonstrating the skills and qualifications required to succeed in the program. The PhD committee shall develop its decision on the student's status and progress to the following stage in the program on the basis of the threefold assessment criterion:
 - 1- A student's grades in courses (no less than B)
 - 2- The courses instructors' evaluation of a student's participation, abilities and potentials, which the instructors share through a written report with the Program Advisor at the end of every course.

- 3- The Program Advisor's annual report (to be submitted to the PhD Committee at the end of every year), which will summarize the interactions of regular advising meetings and data which the Program Advisor collects from sources 1 & 2

2- Thesis Supervisor: After successfully completing stage one, students will be assigned a Thesis Supervisor for the remaining two stages of the program. This supervisor, who is one of the school's core-faculty, will work closely with the student to help shape a research question, area of dissertation study and the writing of the final dissertation product. While the Program Advisor will still be fully available to attend to anything students may need in the program, the Thesis Supervisor will be asked to report to the PhD Committee on the student's progress in the program once every year of the last two years of the program.

Producing Preliminary Draft of the Thesis Proposal:

While developing the official draft of the thesis proposal should not take place until successful completion of stage one of the program, students will be expected and pushed toward thinking seriously about their specific research proposal from the very first semester of the first year in the program. Students should do this in close consultation with a member of the faculty related to their intended area of study. This informal conversation can help the students to sharpen their ideas and enable them to crystalize their scholarly thoughts as they begin to build their academic knowledge on the envisioned subject. These conversations will also help the students begin constructing a potential student-supervisor relationship with a prospective faculty professor who can become their official dissertation supervisor.

In stage one during the second year spring semester, students are required to take the PhD 701 seminar course. In this course, they will prepare and present a preliminary draft of their thesis proposal as a paper before their colleagues and faculty members. This will be a training for them in preparation for the thesis proposal defense. Students must treat the date of presenting a preliminary paper-draft of the thesis proposal as a 'deadline' and should do their best to benefit from all the feedback, comments, corrections, questions and suggestions they will receive from their colleagues and the faculty during the sessions of this PhD701 seminar.

2) Stage Two:

Stage Two is one year-long (two semesters). It is considered full-time study for registration purposes, loan and visa status. Before beginning this stage, students must have finished all the requirements in Stage One, incompletes and unfinished work are not an option to move to Stage Two. The 12 course credits of this stage consists of the following requirements:

The Official Version of the Final Proposal:

Students are required during the first semester of this year to finish composing their thesis/research proposal. The proposal must be written following the standard proposals-writing format that is usually accepted in other academic universities and will be available from the Program Advisor.

During the fall semester of the third year (toward the end of the semester) students will be asked to stand before the PhD committee and faculty to defend their thesis proposal.

The students whose assessment is a 'B' shall make the revisions and resubmit the proposal to his/her, Thesis Supervisor, who will evaluate this resubmission and report to the PhD Committee, without the need for the student to stand and defend it again before the full committee.

On the other hand, the student whose assessment is a 'C' shall make the revisions and stand again before the committee during the ensuing spring semester to re-defend the thesis proposal. This student would be doing this in the presence of his/her, Thesis Supervisor. This reexamination would occur early of the spring semester and before the regular time is due for PhD students to sit for the comprehensive exam toward the end of that very same semester.

The Comprehensive Exam:

This is one of the major stations in stage two and in the entire program. Students must succeed in passing four major exams administered during this Second Stage in the third year. The comprehensive exams will take place at the end of the spring semester in the third year.

The exams are as follows:

1- Two Major Exams: students must be examined in the program's two major core-subjects: Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations/Interfaith Dialogue. The two exams are 6 hours-long, held on two separate days, and will take place at the end of May that academic year.

The exams will be in a form of a list of questions drawn from the reading lists. Students will be given two bibliographies from which the major exams will be drawn. These exams will be assessed and marked by Seminary professors who are experts in these two areas of study.

2- Two Minor Exams: students will be required to propose two subject areas (in addition to the above major exam subjects) relevant to their research focus to produce two scholarly/research papers (8000 words\25 pages long) on. The papers need to demonstrate sufficient knowledge of classical Arabic and demonstrate sufficiently and solidly the student's competence in engaging in original research in these selected areas. These two papers will be read, assessed and graded by two professors whose expertise is relevant to the two chosen subjects. The two papers are to be submitted by the first week of March of that academic year.

The comprehensive exam's four parts are to be completed by the end of the spring semester of that third year. The PhD committee will then meet and vote for officially upgrading the successful students to the Third Stage of the program or the Dissertation research and writing phase. The Program Director/Advisor will inform the students on the committee's decision in an official letter.

In case a student failed one or all of the exams, the student would be allowed to attempt them again after six months. Nevertheless, a second failed attempt at passing the exam means the student cannot continue the program, and will be required to leave but with the possibility of being awarded an MA degree.

The Thesis Supervisor Appointment:

During the first semester of stage two, and simultaneously with a student's defense of the thesis proposal, each successful student will be assigned a Thesis Supervisor. The Thesis Supervisor will be the student's main supporter and guiding reference from this point until successful graduation or termination. Students are strongly encouraged, from the second year in stage one onwards (if not even earlier) to develop open communication channels with members of the faculty with whom they think could be potential supervisors at this stage. Sharing with the Program Director/Advisor their wishes on which supervisor they hope to work with and developing a preliminary communication with this prospective faculty member will help in the process of supervisors' assignment when the time for pursuing this task draws near.

3) Stage Three:

This stage is normally two years-long and is considered a full-time study period. It is the research and writing stage where the students must dedicate their full-time to finishing the task of writing their dissertations and submitting them to examination. During this stage, some teaching or lecturing opportunities will be available to students (subject to the school's needs) through the Program Director/Advisor to help them acquire some teaching skills.

The Dissertation:

The doctoral thesis must be written according to the standard rules, requirements and quality of doctor of philosophy theses that require original contribution to the field and follow the standards of accredited universities and academic institutions.

The dissertation must normally be between 200-300 pages-long (up to 80,000 words-long), excluding cover sheet, table of contents and bibliography. It should be written in academic English (with citations, quotations and scriptural verses in original/foreign languages, e.g. Arabic, German, French, etc. and translated properly into English, whenever this is needed). Its format should follow the writing style and format that is officially adopted for standard academic/scholarly publication. The thesis must also be gender-sensitive and free of discriminative, stereotyping, judgmental or aggressive language.

The Dissertation Assessment:

The thesis will be assessed after:

- 1- its high level of analytical, methodological and cognitive thoroughness that matches those of standard scholarly projects in Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations in the professional field.
- 2- its timeliness, originality and ability to advance scholarship on Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations
- 3- its ability to demonstrate that the student has the required skills and knowledge to do autonomous projects on Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations
- 4- its strict abidance with the program's policy, namely that all dissertations must have an explicit focus on Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations and neither of these two areas should be optional foci of the dissertation.

The Dissertation's Examination:

The student must conduct a defense of the dissertation (no longer than a 3 hour-long discussion) before an appointed committee, faculty and PhD students. The committee will be made of the following members: external examiner, internal examiner, Director of the PhD program and the Academic Dean. The Director of the program and the Dean will be present to observe the entire process and make sure that it proceeds fairly, professionally and ethically.

The student's supervisor(s) will be expected to attend the defense session. However, he/she will not be allowed to interfere by any means in the process or to participate in the discussion. He/she must sit in this defense as auditor only.

The dissertation will be examined by two main readers/examiners: a scholar expert in the area of study of the conducted research from outside the school, and another expert in the thesis's area of study from the school's faculty. The examiners will be asked to compose thorough and comprehensive reports on the dissertation after its examination and submit them to the director of the PhD program, who in turn must share their results with the Academic Dean and the PhD Committee members to make the appropriate relevant decision accordingly.

The Outcome Criterion:

In light of the reports of the two examiners, the PhD committee will decide whether to grant the candidate the PhD degree or not. The final decision of the examiners in their reports must be stated after one of the following fourfold criterion:

- 1- recommending that the dissertation is acceptable and the student can be granted the PhD degree
- 2- recommending minor corrections and revisions to the dissertation and requesting re-submission (without re-examination) to the thesis and granting the student 2-3 months to work closely with his/her supervisor on applying these minor corrections to the dissertation. The supervisor will then support the re-submission with a report on the student's success in fulfilling all the recommended revisions and the dissertation's legibility to approval.

3- recommending major corrections and substantial revisions to be made to the dissertation and request a re-examination session after availing 5-6 months to the student to work closely with his/her supervisor on re-reading the dissertation for re-submission and re-examination. The PhD committee reserves the right to either ask the same examiners (especially the external) to re-conduct the second defense, or to appoint another external examiner to join the already appointed internal examiner (the same reader who was chosen the first time) in conducting the second defense session.

4- disqualifying the dissertation upon its inability to demonstrate fulfillment of the dissertation assessment rules (see section II above) and relating the students' failure in making sufficient case/defense for his/her thesis to pass the exam, which will result in denying the student the PhD degree and availing to him/her the chance of getting an M.A. degree instead.

Learning Outcomes

The learning objectives of this program are:

1. To acquire a comprehensive knowledge in Islamic Studies, Christian-Muslim Relations, and Interreligious Engagement/Interfaith Dialogue
2. To develop the competence to produce original research and written works to advance the scholarship on Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations for the benefit of religious communities, academy, and society
3. To gain the knowledge, skills and competence to teach in these subjects in religious communities and academia

Retired Degree and Certificate Programs

The following programs are currently in teach-out status and are no longer accepting new applications.

- Graduate Certificate in Islamic Chaplaincy
- Graduate Certificate in Imam and Muslim Community Leadership
- Master of Arts in Religious Studies
- Master of Arts in Transformative Leadership and Spirituality
- Doctor of Ministry

Students that were admitted to these programs through the Spring 2021 semester should consult the 2020-2021 academic catalog for specific degree requirements. All general academic policies listed in the 2021-2022 Academic Catalog will apply to degrees in teach-out status, but degree specific policies listed in the 2020-2021 Academic Catalog will remain in effect until students either complete their program, or withdraw.

Payment of Tuition and Fees

A student becomes liable for the full tuition cost of a course on the date the course begins, therefore payment of course tuition and applicable semester fees are due no later than the first day of classes. Hartford Seminary accepts personal check, money order, MasterCard, VISA, and Discover.

If you wish to pay tuition via credit card a 2.85% convenience fee will be added.

All financial obligations to Hartford Seminary must be met before any of the following will be permitted: enrollment in subsequent semesters, participation in graduation, and release of transcripts and diplomas.

Refund Policy

- Students who withdraw from a course before the drop deadline are entitled to a full tuition refund.
- Students who withdraw after the drop deadline are charged in full for the tuition of that course.
- Refunds to the student will be made within 30 days of the date that the Seminary determines the student has officially withdrawn.

On-Line Courses

- Withdrawal from on-line courses will be allowed according to the above guidelines

Intensive Courses

For courses that meet on a non-weekly, intensive format the withdrawal schedule will be as follows:

- Students who withdraw from a course before the second class meeting are entitled to a full tuition refund.
- Students who withdraw after the second class meeting are charged in full for the tuition of that course.
- Refunds to the student will be made within 30 days of the date that the Seminary determines the student has officially withdrawn.

International Students

Application, Admission and Important Related Information

Application and Admission

Hartford Seminary is authorized under federal law to enroll full-time nonimmigrant students. It is the policy of Hartford Seminary that all international students enter the U.S. with an F-1 visa. Students in a visa classification other than F-1, should speak to the Coordinator of International Student and Scholar Services to verify their eligibility to enroll as a full-time student. Hartford Seminary accepts international students interested in the MA in Interreligious Studies, MA in Chaplaincy, and MA in International Peacebuilding and PhD in Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations degrees.

English Language Proficiency

Students who do not have English as a first language, or as a primary language in previous academic studies, are required, prior to application, to take either the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) examination and achieve a minimum score of:

TOEFL: 550 (written version), 213 (computer version) or 80 (internet version)
IELTS: 6.5

Applications for admission will not be processed without an official TOEFL or IELTS score.

Financial Sponsorship

Although applications for admission from international students are not reviewed on the basis of the student's financial status, Hartford Seminary must receive a letter of financial guarantee from a scholarship agency or a private individual (in the latter case documentation of personal or family funds on bank letterhead or in the form of a legally binding affidavit must be included) before the I-20 "Certificate of Eligibility for Nonimmigrant (F-1) Student Status" can be issued. This form is required for international students seeking a student visa. The letter of financial guarantee must show sufficient funds to meet the costs outlined in the Estimated International Student Costs Table.

All policies in the Hartford Seminary 2021-2022 Catalogue and the Hartford Seminary Student Handbook apply; however, international students (and research scholars) should make special note of the policies and procedures listed below.

Course Registration

To maintain their F-1 visa status, international students must be enrolled in a full-time course of study. While taking coursework, full-time status is defined as 9 credits per semester (registration during summer session is not required). International students who have completed all of their coursework must register for their final requirement in the following semesters.

In order to maintain full-time status during the final phase of their degree program, students must follow these guidelines:

- 3-credit final paper or project: If the student has registered for the 3-credit final requirement, and is not enrolled in any other courses during that semester, the final requirement must be completed and examined within that semester. If the student has registered for the 3-credit final requirement and is still enrolled in one or more courses during that semester that are required for the completion of the degree, the final requirement must be completed and examined by the end of the following semester.

Any exception to this policy must be approved by the Academic Policy Committee and the Coordinator of International Student and Scholar Services.

Note: This policy allows students a maximum of two regular semesters before being examined.

Health Insurance

All international students and research scholars are required to carry adequate major medical insurance (accident, illness, hospitalization), medical evacuation, and repatriation insurance for the duration of their enrollment (and occupancy of Hartford Seminary apartments, when applicable) at Hartford Seminary.

Housing

Normally, international students are strongly advised to live on campus for the first year of their study at Hartford Seminary, subject to such housing being available. Because we have limited campus housing available, the Seminary does not guarantee accommodations on campus for students. However, international students are given priority for Seminary apartment space that is available. For more detailed information, see the housing brochure on the Seminary website or contact the Student Care & Residential Life Coordinator.

Several rental options for student housing are typically available in the surrounding area as well.

Any student living on-campus must receive the meningococcal vaccination (meningitis) and provide documentation to the Registrar's Office. Students who do not comply with this requirement within one month of moving on-campus will be asked to leave student housing.

International Student Tuition, Fees and Additional Costs

Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies Degree

The following table provides an estimate of total costs for the Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies degree program on a full-time basis taking two academic years to complete. These figures are based on the costs of the student alone who is housed in one of Hartford Seminary's international student apartments. Students who come with a dependent or dependents should add approximately $1000/month to overall expenses.

These costs are based on the very minimum amount of time in which it is anticipated the program may be successfully completed therefore, the costs are the minimum anticipated amount and are not in any way provided as the definitive or final costs and should not be interpreted as such. Individual student costs will vary depending on residence, lifestyle, program requirements and normal economic fluctuations.

Financial Aid and Scholarship Information for Graduate Students

Determining how to pay for graduate school can be as challenging as deciding which academic program is best for you. Hartford Seminary tries to facilitate the decision-making process by offering financial aid to eligible students. Danielle LaVine is the financial aid administrator and may be contacted at dlavine@hartsem.edu or 860-509-9511.

Hartford Seminary Financial Aid Options

Depending on the program of study, Hartford Seminary currently offers the following financial assistance to students:

Federal Programs

Direct Loans

Work Study (FWS)

Hartford Seminary Programs

Institutional Grants

William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program:

Hartford Seminary is a Title IV Institution and participates in the William D. Ford Direct Loan Program and Federal Work Study Programs (FWS). In order to qualify for a Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan or FWS, students must be matriculated in a degree program, be a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen, and be registered for at least 6 credits per term. Students must also complete and submit the FAFSA online. For instructions please go to <http://www.hartsem.edu/admissions/financial-aid/how-to-apply-for-federal-aid/>.

As of July 1, 2012, all Direct Loans for Graduate Students are unsubsidized and the maximum amount available annually is $20,500. This amount is not indicative of the financial aid award that each student receives. Eligibility is based upon a variety of factors as determined by the U.S. Department of Education.

Federal Work Study (FWS):

If a student is interested in FWS please should check “yes” on the FAFSA. Checking “yes” does not obligate a student for FWS it simply alerts the Financial Aid Office in the processing of their aid package. FWS is awarded based on documented need for financial assistance and places students in various jobs on campus. There are a limited number of FWS positions so students should be mindful of “first come, first serve” and inquire as soon as possible. To apply for FWS please refer to the above instructions on filing a FAFSA and submit an email expressing your interest in a FWS position to the Financial Aid Office dlavine@hartsem.edu to be placed on the list. All eligible candidates will then be submitted to the Human Resource Director for consideration.

Federal Leave of Absence: A student who is the recipient of a Federal Direct Loan and/or a Federal Graduate PLUS loan may not exceed 180 days on a Leave of Absence in any 12 month period and must return to the program at the point that he or she exited in order to maintain his or her loan grace period. A student who has exhausted his or her grace period and is unable to begin repayment of a loan may apply for a deferment or forbearance for payment. A student returning from a LOA must complete the semester in order to be eligible to receive a second or subsequent disbursement. The U.S. Department of Education will be notified of the student’s withdrawal date (the date the LOA began) if a student fails to return at the end of the 180 days of an approved LOA. Any LOA that does not meet all of the conditions for an approved LOA (as specified by the Department of Education) is considered a withdrawal for Federal Title IV funds purposes. Students on Federal Financial Aid or who are on an “in-school deferment” from prior institutions should contact the Financial Aid Office for additional paperwork which must be completed.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy for Financial Aid Recipients and/or Veterans:

Students receiving federal student aid, institutional aid, or veterans' benefits must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP).

At Hartford Seminary, Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) is officially checked at the end of each semester (fall, spring, and summer). Satisfactory academic progress consists of two components: Grade point average and pace. A student must meet both components in order to make satisfactory academic progress.

Grade Point Average

Students who fail to maintain at least a 2.66 G.P.A. with respect to their cumulative work are considered to not be making satisfactory academic progress. In addition the student must comply with Hartford Seminary's full Academic Probation policy.

Pace

Students are required to successfully complete at least 70 percent of all credit hours attempted. Pace is calculated by dividing the cumulative credit hours earned by the cumulative credit hours attempted.

All students who expect to complete a degree at Hartford Seminary must do so within the following maximum time frame, beginning at matriculation:

- MA in Religious Studies – 6 years
- Doctor of Ministry – 6 years
- Ph.D. in Islamic Studies and Christian Muslim Relations – 7 years
- Graduate Certificate in Islamic Chaplaincy – 3 years
- MA in Interreligious Studies – 4 years
- MA in International Peacebuilding – 2 years
- MA in Chaplaincy – 4 years

Incomplete Courses

Courses for which a student is granted an incomplete (I) will count toward cumulative credits attempted but will not be used to determine the cumulative GPA until the grade has been submitted to the Registrar.

Repeated Courses

Credits for each attempt of a course are counted towards the cumulative credits attempted. Only the grade for the second attempt is used in calculating the GPA.

Course Withdrawals

Courses for which a student receives a grade of "W" or "WP" will count towards total credits attempted, but will have no impact on the GPA. Grades of "WF" will count towards total credits attempted, and will factor into the GPA.

Transfer Credits

Transfer credits from other schools will not factor into the GPA calculation, but will count as credits attempted and earned.

Financial Aid Warning

A student, who is determined to not be making SAP, will be sent a letter by the Financial Aid Office informing them that they have been placed on Financial Aid Warning and will have one semester to improve their academic performance to a satisfactory level. The student will continue to be eligible to receive aid during this period, provided all other eligibility requirements are met.

Financial Aid Appeal

A student who loses financial aid eligibility because he/she failed to make satisfactory progress may appeal on the basis of: the loss of a family member, the serious illness of the student or a family member, and other situations deemed appropriate. The student is required to submit a letter to the Academic Policy Committee detailing the situation which caused him/her to fail to make satisfactory progress and what has changed in his/her situation that will allow him/her to make satisfactory progress at the next evaluation. If approved, the student will be eligible to receive financial aid for one more semester.

If an appeal is approved but it is determined that it will not be possible for the student to achieve satisfactory progress by the end of the next evaluation period the student will be placed on an academic improvement plan. The student's progress will continue to be checked at the end of each semester, and if the student fails to meet the requirements of the plan, aid eligibility will be lost.

Financial Aid Probation

A student who does not make SAP after the Financial Aid Warning period, appeals the SAP decision, and whose appeal is granted, is placed on Financial Aid Probation. Only students who have successfully appealed SAP are placed on Financial Aid Probation. A student on Financial Aid Probation may have the additional condition of following an academic plan, a reduction in course load, or both. While on Financial Aid Probation, the student is eligible to receive Federal aid. At the end of the probationary period if the student is meeting SAP or the student follows the academic plan/reduced work load set by the school, the student continues to receive aid. If Hartford Seminary determines that the student does not meet the minimum SAP requirements at the time of evaluation, or the additional conditions, the student is no longer eligible to receive Federal financial aid funds.

Additionally for Veterans:

For the purpose of VA regulations, the VA is notified immediately after any semester that a veteran does not make SAP. All veterans must comply with Hartford Seminary's SAP Policy as stated above. No veteran will be certified until SAP has been verified.

Hartford Seminary Programs

Institutional Grants

Financial aid in the form of grants is available to matriculated degree students. The deadline for first round consideration for the academic year, which begins with the fall semester, is June 1. After June 1 all funds are awarded on an as available basis to eligible students

Hartford Seminary students must reapply for Institutional Grants each academic year, by filing the FAFSA and submitting the Hartford Seminary Financial Aid Supplement. Students must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress to receive consideration. International students must submit Guarantor's Statement of Financial Support, bank statements, and the Hartford Seminary Financial Aid Supplement.

Students with special financial concerns or a change in financial circumstances may contact the Financial Aid Office.

Outside Scholarships and Grants:

Students must notify the Financial Aid Office (860) 509-9511 and the Business Office (860) 509-9524 of any outside scholarships they are awarded.

Any outside scholarships that we become aware of for students will be posted by the Financial Aid Office in Hartford Seminary's weekly online paper The Exchange.

Veterans Administration Benefits

Eligible students may use Veterans Administration benefits to pursue an approved degree or certificate program. Students are advised to make their initial application for VA benefits well in advance of their first semester. Once a student has registered for a given semester, the Seminary upon request will certify the student's enrollment to the Veterans Administration, which will then determine the student's eligibility and award. Students are responsible for paying all tuition and fees to the Seminary. Continued certification by the Seminary is contingent on the student's maintaining good academic standing and making satisfactory progress toward completion of program requirements. The Seminary must report unsatisfactory progress to the Veterans Administration.

Students already receiving benefits through the Veteran's Administration who are continuing their enrollment and wish to use their benefits for the upcoming semester should make a formal request to the Financial Aid Office so we can submit an enrollment certification to the VA on your behalf. The request can be in the form of an email sent to dlavine@hartsem.edu. Students who have not previously used VA benefits at Hartford Seminary, but wish to do so, should contact the Financial Aid Office as soon as possible. Veterans should also keep in mind that they must notify the VA and the Financial Aid Office of any program changes or adjustment to the number of courses and type of courses they are taking in a given semester.

Hartford Seminary participates in the Yellow Ribbon GI Education Program, a provision of the Post 9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance act of 2008. The Yellow Ribbon Program, Chapter 33 Post 9/11 GI BILL[®], is a partnership between the Veteran Administration and Hartford Seminary. Women's Leadership Institute: A Program in Applied Spirituality

The Women's Leadership Institute (WLI) is an experience based program committed to developing an embodied spirituality grounded in the very real world of our personal and public lives. As of 2020-2021 the WLI is transitioning to become an affiliated center of Hartford Seminary. There is no academic credit awarded for WLI courses.

The Ministries Certificate Programs

Academic Information and Procedures for the Ministries Certificate Programs

By offering the Black Ministries Program (BMP) and the Hispanic Ministries Program (PMH), Hartford Seminary seeks to serve the community by providing introductory theological education on a schedule convenient to both clergy and lay leaders. The programs are designed to help participants strengthen their faith, develop their spirituality, and learn to engage more effectively in the ministries of their churches and communities. Students in these two programs form valuable relationships with other students in their courses and are encouraged to participate in other educational events and programs offered by Hartford Seminary. Both programs are designed to be completed in two years.

For further information, please call 860-509-9500 or email: bmp@hartsem.edu or pmh@hartsem.edu.

Admission

Each prospective student must complete an application that includes general student information, a personal statement, two letters of reference, and a registration form. A baccalaureate degree is not required for admission. A non-refundable application fee of $40 must be submitted with the program application. Applications are reviewed for admission by the Program Director and an official letter of admission is sent to applicants who are accepted into the program. Although the program year extends from September to June, students are accepted on a rolling admissions basis.

Ministries Certificate Program Requirements

The Certificate is awarded for the successful completion of eight courses. Each ministry certificate program has its own distribution requirements. While most classes are either Saturday morning or afternoon, a few sessions are held on weekday evenings. Normally courses meet for six to nine sessions of three hours each.

Cost of the Program

Tuition is kept low to encourage persons of all income levels to participate. Courses are $235 each, and merit scholarships are generously given, thanks to a grant from the Thomas Hoyt, Jr. Scholarship Fund and from the PMH Scholarship Fund. Additional financial aid may be awarded based upon demonstrated need. Each student is responsible for purchasing the required books for each course. Cash, Check, MasterCard, American Express, or the Discover Card may be used for payment of tuition and fees. A 2.5% convenience fee will be charged when paying with a credit card. A payment plan may be arranged with the Business Office. Students are urged to seek financial aid from their churches and church connections.

Adding or Dropping Courses

Students may not begin a course after the second class session. Notification of the desire to drop a course must be made in writing to the Program Office within the first two weeks of the course. After the first two weeks no changes can be made and no refunds will be given.

Attendance

Attendance is required at all sessions. A student with excessive absences (missing more than 1/3 of the course) is only allowed to complete the course at the discretion of the instructor and/or program director.

Enrollment Options

There are two enrollment options: non-credit and credit.

Although Hartford Seminary is not authorized to offer undergraduate credit, students may earn up to fourteen lower level credits toward a baccalaureate degree through Charter Oak State College for completion of the BMP/PMH certificate program. Charter Oak requires an additional fee for the transfer of those credits from a Hartford Seminary transcript.

The grading options are as follows:

- Students who may wish to receive undergraduate college credit from Charter Oak should elect to receive letter grades (A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+, C, F).
- Students who will not be seeking undergraduate college credit from another institution may elect to receive Satisfactory (S) or Unsatisfactory (U).

The grading option must be chosen at the time of registration. Any request for a change must be submitted in writing to the Program Office.

Students who have not received undergraduate credit for BMP/PMH, and have been admitted to the Hartford Seminary Master of Arts degree program, may be eligible to receive six credits of Advanced Standing credit. Please see the Advanced Standing policy on page 80 of this catalog for further information.

Please read the following disclaimers in regards to BMP/PMH:

- BMP/PMH is non-collegiate credit program.
- Admission to BMP/PMH for those seeking undergraduate credit awarded by Charter Oak State College requires, at minimum, graduation from an accredited secondary school or the equivalent.
- Admission to BMP/PMH for those seeking graduate credit awarded through the Seminary's M.A. program requires, at minimum, graduation from an appropriate bachelor's degree program, or the equivalent.
- Students cannot be awarded both undergraduate and graduate credit for their work in BMP/PMH.

Graduation

Certificates for successful completion of the program are awarded at Hartford Seminary's annual graduation ceremony.

Graduation Fee

The graduation fee for the BMP and PMH program is $65 per student. This fee includes the cost of graduation gown rental, the ceremonial stole provided to each student to wear during the ceremony and keep, and all other costs associated with the awarding of the certificate and the graduation ceremony.

Incomplete Policy

Coursework is due by the end of the course. An Incomplete (I) for unfinished coursework is given only at the discretion of the instructor and must be completed within six months. After six months an Incomplete (I) becomes an F. Special exemptions are made only by petition to the Program Director.

Continuing Education Units (CEUs)

Students who choose not to receive formal grades for purposes of pursuing college credit for their certificate work, may opt to receive Continuing Education Units (CEUs). For information about receiving CEUs, contact the Program Director. One CEU is awarded for each ten hours of class participation.

Audit Option for Ministries Certificate Program Graduates

Students who have graduated from one of the two ministry certificate programs may audit future ministry certificate program courses for a special fee of $75. Graduate auditors must be approved by the Program Director and are required to complete all registration forms.

The Black Ministries Program (BMP)

The Black Ministries Program is comprised of two components: the Black Ministries Certificate Program and Black Ministries educational outreach programs and events. The Black Ministries Program welcomes students of all denominational and religious backgrounds. For further details, please contact the program office at bmp@hartsem.edu or 860-509-9512.

Writing Requirement for Black Ministries Program

All students are required to successfully complete BMP-100 The Art of Communication unless exempted by the Program Director at the time of admission.

Course Descriptions

The Bible Institute: Understanding the Bible (offered every other September)

Staff

The Bible Institute covers the historical, cultural and political forces that shaped the Bible, the history of translation and canonization of the Hebrew Scriptures and the New Testament. The Bible Institute is required and free of charge for all students entering the Black Ministries Program. It is also open to the public for $35.

BMP-101 The Art of Communication

Crosby

Emphasizing effective oral and written communication techniques, this course assists students in the preparation of written assignments and oral presentations. Students will review the rules of syntax and grammar and will be exposed to research tools necessary for the art of creative expression.

BMP-140 Church Administration

Stallworth

This course is designed to probe the ways church and ministries are a business. Topics covered will include techniques for managing and developing a budget, record-keeping, fundraising, supervision of staff, marketing and community relations.

BMP-161 Expository Preaching

Watts

The basic purpose of this course will be to instruct each student in the necessary “how to” of sermon preparation and delivery. Particular emphasis will be placed on the distinctiveness of preaching in the Black religious context. (Previous title - Preaching in the Black Context)

BMP-190 Theology and the Black Experience

Johnson

The purpose of this course is to use the African-American experience and search for identity in America as a lens through which to understand the development of African-American theology in the context of the Christian tradition.

BMP-231 Education for the Life of the Church

Thomas

This is a comprehensive introduction to the total educational ministry of the church including worship, study, fellowship and service. These aspects of the church’s ministry are explored in relationship to curriculum planning, administration, church school organization, and teaching. (Previous title - Christian Education)

BMP-235 In Our Own Voices

Copeland

This preaching course will offer women the opportunity to explore and discern their own voices in preaching. Students will reflect on the historical, theological and biblical significance of women in the pulpit and will have an opportunity to participate in practical preaching exercises.

BMP-250: Shared Urban Spaces: Black-Latino Dialogue

Ayala and Bennett

This course will give a broad overview of a paradigm of ministry that has been categorized as Urban Ministries. The focus of this course will explore the historical evolution of what has come to be known as ministry in the urban context that is distinctive from the suburban or rural context, examine and evaluate one particular approach to urban ministry as executed by two ministries within the urban context, and reflect on the aforementioned tasks and their implications for each student's ministry context.

BMP-260 Survey of the Old Testament

This course will study the major books of the Hebrew Scriptures emphasizing their content and theology. Data from archeology, the history and the culture of the ancient Near East, and critical approaches to scripture study will be introduced where appropriate.

BMP-270 Survey of the New Testament

Agosto

This course will concentrate on the major teachings of the New Testament documents and the origins of Christianity. Historical-critical observations will be discussed in connection with the New Testament texts.

BMP-275 Who Are You, Adam? Explorations of Male Spirituality

Bennett

This course is designed to offer an introductory exploration into the connection between male sexuality and male spirituality. Definitions of both sexuality and spirituality will be followed by an investigation of how both are manifested and perceived within the context of the local church. In particular, how do emerging paradigms of male identity challenge traditional male spiritual practices (i.e. worship, prayer, fellowship, ministry.)

BMP-280 Black Theological Ethics: A Case Study Approach

Stallworth

In this course case studies will be used to explore contemporary ethical problems impacting the black community from a theological perspective. The cases will focus on such issues as environmental racism, affirmative action, economics, health and sexuality to help participants gain a better understanding of faithful, ethical decision-making.

BMP-300 Charismatic Praise and Worship

Clayton

The black church has long been known for its dynamic praise and worship experience. This course will explore contemporary trends of praise and worship in the black church in light of the historical, biblical roots to provide participants with insights and skills to develop sound contemporary praise and worship teams and music ministries for the black church context.

Hispanic Ministries Program (PMH)

The Hispanic Ministries Program provides introductory theological education for ministry and leadership in Hispanic churches and communities. Through its Hispanic Ministries Certificate Program, taught in English in conjunction with the Black Ministries Program, classes are intended to help clergy and lay leaders strengthen the faith and witness of churches in Hispanic and Latino communities throughout New England. The program is also open to individuals who wish to obtain educational opportunities for personal and community enrichment.

The program welcomes students of all religious and denominational backgrounds and normally requires participation in a local Hispanic congregation or a context in which Hispanic ministry is important. A baccalaureate degree is not required for admission to the program.

The Hispanic Ministries Certificate Program is structured for completion in two academic years of study. Each academic year, several six to eight week courses in ministry, theology and Bible are offered. Students are expected to finish eight courses over a two-year period as follows: two in Biblical Studies, two in Theological and Historical Studies, two in Ministerial Studies and two in any area of the student's choosing. Upon successful completion of eight courses, students receive a Certificate in Hispanic Ministries from Hartford Seminary. An added benefit of this program is the dialogical learning opportunities with religious leaders from the African-American community.

An advisor is appointed by the Academic Dean to work with Latino/a students enrolled in the PMH. Please see the BMP courses description for classes available to PMH students.

Academic Policies for Graduate Programs

(These policies apply to all students in graduate programs. All general academic policies listed in the 2021-2022 Academic Catalog will apply to degrees currently in teach-out status (see page 50). For degree specific policies for degrees in teach-out status please refer to the 2020-2021 Academic Catalog; Degree specific policies will apply until students either complete their program, or withdraw.

Academic Advising

The Dean will assign a faculty advisor to the student upon acceptance to the program. Students may change academic advisors with the permission of both the old and new advisor and the Academic Dean. Students are expected to initiate contact with her/his faculty advisor each semester during the advising week, to discuss the student's course selections. When faculty advisors are on sabbatical, students may meet with the Registrar or Dean during the registration period to discuss course options for the next semester.

Academic Policy Committee (APC)

The Academic Policy Committee is comprised of faculty and senior administrative staff. This representative group is responsible for administering the academic policies that pertain to all educational programs offered by Hartford Seminary. Individual student requests for exceptions to academic policies and procedures are reviewed and decided by APC.

Academic Probation

At the end of each fall and spring semester student academic progress is evaluated. Students who fail to maintain a 2.66 Grade Point Average with respect to their cumulative work are placed on academic probation. Students are notified of this in writing. As a condition of academic probation, students will be required to meet with their advisor to put a plan in place to address their probation status. The program of a student who continues on academic probation for two consecutive semesters will be terminated. Students who are recipients of federal financial aid should refer to the Financial Aid section of this Catalogue for the Satisfactory Academic Progress policy.

Doctor of Ministry

In addition to maintaining a 2.66 minimum grade point average, students in the Doctor of Ministry program who receive two "Low Pass" grades or below will be evaluated by the Academic Policy Committee to determine their suitability for continuing in the program. The enrollment of any Doctor of Ministry student receiving two "Fail" grades shall be terminated.

Adding a Course

Students may add a course through the first week of the semester by completing an Add/Drop form and submitting it to the Registrar's Office. After the first week of the Add/Drop period, students may only add a course with the approval of the instructor.

Changes in Audit/Credit Status

Changing from Audit to Credit

With the instructor's permission an auditor who has fully participated in a class may switch from audit to credit at anytime before the last class session (for online classes, this would be the last day of the semester). To make the change, the student must already be matriculated in a Hartford Seminary degree or Graduate Certificate program, or be eligible for "Special Student" status at the graduate level. In addition, the student must pay the full course tuition and must submit a completed "Audit to Credit Change Form." No changes will be permitted after a course ends.

Changing from Credit to Audit

Students may change from Credit to Audit only if their work has been satisfactory. Students switching from Credit to Audit after the occurrence of 25% of the class sessions will not be granted any refund in tuition. (For MA courses meeting weekly, this means after three class sessions have occurred; for D.Min. courses meeting monthly, this means after the first day-long session has occurred.) Students may change a course from Credit to Audit up to and including the occurrence of 50% of the class sessions. For MA courses meeting weekly, this means prior to the eighth class session; for D.Min. courses meeting monthly, this means prior to the fourth class session. Students may not change a course from Credit to Audit after 50% of the course sessions have taken place which means any change from Credit to Audit must take place prior to the eighth class session for MA courses meeting weekly and prior to the fourth class session for D.Min. courses meeting monthly.)

Class Session Cancellation - Inclement Weather

Hartford Seminary reserves the right to cancel classes in the event of inclement weather. Hartford Seminary notifies the following radio and television stations of cancellations and Seminary closings: radio stations WTIC AM (1080), WTIC FM (96.5), WPOP AM (1410) and television channels 3 (WFSB), 8 (WTNH) and 30 (WVIT). The voicemail on the main Hartford Seminary phone number 860-509-9500 will also be changed to reflect cancellations and closings. The main page of the Hartford Seminary website will reflect closings as well (www.hartsem.edu).

Computer Access

For students to be successful in their programs, they should have access to computer technology that affords them email capability and access to the internet, so that they might engage with Canvas (the learning management system), and Populi (the student access portal). Students taking online courses (synchronous or a-synchronous) should also have access to a computer with a camera, microphone, and sufficient bandwidth to ensure engaged participation in the class. Students who have questions or concerns about computer access and literacy should contact their advisor, or the Dean's office.

Computer Use

Hartford Seminary is committed to providing computing services to support the needs of students, faculty, and staff of the Seminary. The policies are in place to ensure: 1) the security and integrity of computer resources available on campus; 2) that users have reasonable access to the facilities; and, 3) that the action of any one user will not adversely affect any aspect of the work of another. The Seminary reserves the right to control, evaluate and monitor all student computer and electronic telecommunications except as may be prohibited by Federal or State Laws. Please see the Student Handbook for the full Computer Use policy.

Course Cancellation

Hartford Seminary reserves the right to cancel any course.

Course Evaluations

All students are required to complete course evaluations. All responses are anonymous and course evaluations are not shared with course instructors until after the grade submission deadline.

Course Retake Policy

Students may repeat a course in which they have earned a grade of F. The grade for the second attempt of the course, and the associated credits, are recorded on the student's transcript and are calculated into the GPA. When the new grade is added to the academic record, the old grade is replaced with the letter R, indicating that the course was retaken in a later term. R grades do not affect grade point calculations and do not carry credit toward graduation. Only the grade in the repeated course receives credit and applies to the grade point average.

- Withdrawn courses cannot be covered with an R if the course is retaken.
- Grades may not be absolved by repeating a course after graduation.

- Grades assigned due to an academic ethics violation may not be removed from the academic record by repeating the course. Both the new grade and the assigned grade will be shown (no R will cover the original attempt).
- A course originally taken for a letter grade must be repeated for a letter grade.

To absolve a grade, the same course must be taken. In situations where the same course is no longer offered students may be able to absolve a grade in one of two ways:

- By repeating a course of comparable content and level
- As an independent study

Both of these options require approval of the Academic Policy Committee. Students wishing to pursue one of the above avenues must submit a petition to the Academic Policy Committee.

Coursework Due Dates

Projects, reports, or any work required in any course offered within the limits of a semester must be completed according to the due dates announced by the faculty member teaching the course. It is the student's responsibility to confirm that the faculty member has received the work by the due date. This is particularly important if the work is submitted electronically.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) afford eligible students certain rights with respect to their education records. These rights include:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days after a request for access. Students should submit to the registrar written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The registrar will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected.
2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the student believes is inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights under FERPA.

A student who wishes to ask the school to amend a record should write the registrar, clearly identify the part of the record the student wants changed, and specify why it should be changed.

If the Seminary decides not to amend the record as requested, the Seminary will notify the student in writing of the decision and the student's right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. The right to provide written consent before the Seminary discloses personally identifiable information from the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

One exception, which permits disclosure without consent, is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the Seminary in an administrative, supervisory, academic, research, or support staff position; a person or company with whom the Seminary has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); a person serving on the Board of Trustees; a person serving on an official committee, such as disciplinary or grievance committee; or a person assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

At its discretion, Hartford Seminary may also provide “directory information” without consent in accordance with the provisions of the Act. “Directory information” is defined as including a student’s name, address, Hartford Seminary e-mail address, telephone number, date of birth, photograph, degree or non-degree program which enrolled, dates of attendance, degrees or awards earned (with dates received) from Hartford Seminary.

A student may withhold directory information by indicating this preference in writing to the Office of the Registrar within the first two weeks of any semester. Please note that such withholding requests are binding for all information to all parties other than for educational purposes. Students should consider all aspects of a directory hold prior to filing such a request. Requests for non-disclosure will be honored by Hartford Seminary as long as the student is enrolled.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the Seminary to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is:

Family Policy Compliance Office
 U.S. Department of Education
 400 Maryland Avenue, SW
 Washington, DC 20202

Grading System

Master of Arts and Graduate Certificate

The Hartford Seminary Grading Guidelines approved by the faculty in April 1996 stipulate the following:

- +/- indicates strength or weakness within a letter grade. Grades range from A to C and F; A+’s and C-’s are not part of the grading system.
- A(4.00), A-(3.66), B+(3.33), B(3.00), B-(2.66), C+(2.33), C(2.00) and F(0.00).
- A grade point average of no less than B- (2.66) is required to maintain good standing
- The minimum G.P.A. required for graduation is 2.75.

Master of Arts in Peacebuilding

Students in the MAP degree program are graded as follows:

- High Pass (4.00), Pass (3.00), and Fail (0.00)
- A grade point average of no less than 2.66 is required to maintain good standing

Doctor of Ministry

Students in the Doctor of Ministry degree program are graded as follows:

- High Pass(4.00), Pass (3.00), Low Pass(2.00), and Fail(0.00)
- A grade point average of no less than 2.66 is required to maintain good standing

Students who receive two “Low Pass” grades or below will be evaluated by the Academic Policy Committee to determine their suitability for continuing in the program. The enrollment of any Doctor of Ministry student receiving two “Fail” grades shall be terminated.

Grades

Faculty members are required to submit course grades according to the following schedule: Fall Semester: January 10; Intersession and Winter/Spring Semester: June 3; and Summer Session: August 15. Students can view their grades through the Student Access portal after the submission date if they have completed their online course evaluation. It is the policy of Hartford Seminary not to allow grade changes after grades are submitted. Should a student dispute a grade received for a course, they must contact the Dean immediately and no later than 60 days after the grade submission date. (If the disputed grade was for an incomplete course then the student must be in contact with the Dean within 60 days after the grade was entered into the computer system.) Students who need grades earlier than the stated deadlines should be in contact with the faculty member before the end of the semester to negotiate an early submission.

Graduation

Master of Arts degrees and Graduate Certificates are conferred twice a year; in December and May. Hartford Seminary holds one graduation ceremony in late spring.

Guidelines for Research Conducted by Persons Affiliated with Hartford Seminary

It is expected that all persons who conduct research under the auspices of Hartford Seminary will treat everyone involved in the research with respect and care. Please see the full text of our guidelines in the Student Handbook.

Housing

Because the programs offered by the Seminary are primarily designed for non-residential students, the Seminary does not guarantee on campus accommodations for students. However, limited space may be available for rent to full-time students in the Seminary's Edith Mason Howard Ecumenical House and in other Seminary residences. International students are given priority for Seminary residential space. Any student living on-campus must receive the meningococcal vaccination (meningitis) and provide documentation to the Registrar's Office. Students who do not comply with this requirement within one month of moving on campus will be asked to leave student housing.

Hartford Seminary does not generally have short-term housing on campus for commuting students. Students are expected to make their own accommodation arrangements. However, occasionally there is a vacancy in our full-time student housing that might be made available to commuting students. Please contact the Director of Administration and Facilities for more information.

Inclusive Language

Hartford Seminary is committed to a policy of inclusion in its academic life and mission. All members of the community are expected to communicate in language that reflects the equality of genders, openness to diverse cultural and theological perspectives, and sensitivity to one another's images of God.

Immunization Verification

Connecticut state law requires that students born after December 31, 1956 and enrolled in a graduate program or pursuing studies on a full-time basis as a special student be protected against measles, rubella, mumps and varicella. Additionally, students living on-campus must receive the meningococcal (meningitis) vaccination. To assist students with complying with this requirement, Hartford Seminary has developed an Immunization Verification form. This form is included with the letter of admission and must be completed by a medical professional before you begin classes.

The immunization requirements are: two doses of each vaccine, the first to be given on or after the first birthday; and the second dose given at least 30 days after the first. (Only one dose of the meningitis vaccine is required.) The following exemptions may apply:

- Students who were born before January 1, 1980 are not required to provide proof of immunization for varicella unless they were born outside the United States. However they must provide proof of the other immunizations.
- Students who believe they have a valid medical or religious reason for being exempt from the immunization requirements should contact the Registrar's Office for more information.

While some students are able to provide the required documentation, others find it is easier to undergo a blood test, which may show that they are immune. If they are not immune, then they must receive all of the required vaccinations.

Students enrolled in classes who are not in compliance will be notified that they will be removed from classes if they fail to fully comply with this requirement. Students removed from courses may be subject to academic penalties. No financial refunds will be issued if a student is removed from classes for failure to comply with the immunization requirement. For additional information or questions, contact the Registrar.

Incomplete Grades

- A student may request an incomplete grade by filling out an Incomplete Grade Form. This form must be signed by the course instructor prior to the last day of class for that semester and submitted to the Registrar's Office and the Financial Aid Office.
- When an "Incomplete" is granted, the instructor and student must agree upon a date for completion of all coursework. This date must be within 4 weeks of the last day of the Fall or Spring Semesters, and 8 weeks after the end of Summer Session, as listed on the Academic Calendar in which the course was given.
- The faculty instructor will also include on the Incomplete Grade Form the grade the student will earn if they do not submit their remaining work by the agreed upon date.
- The outstanding coursework must be submitted by the agreed upon date. If the work is not submitted by the due date, the earned grade indicated on the Incomplete Course Form will be automatically recorded by the Registrar. If the grade to be awarded field on the form is left blank the final grade will be converted to an "F"
- The instructor shall determine the penalty for late work.
- Only the Academic Policy Committee may grant an extension beyond the original limit and will do so only under rare mitigating circumstances such as medical or military related issues with provided documentation. Any requests for extensions beyond the original limit must be submitted in writing to the Registrar prior to the expiration of the original period. A marker of "I" will be listed on the transcript until the official grade is submitted.
- A student who has two or more incomplete courses will not be permitted to register for the next semester.
- A student who has requested an incomplete grade should be aware that their eligibility for financial aid may be jeopardized and that previously awarded student loans may go into repayment or enter the grace period if they are not allowed to register for subsequent semesters.

Independent Study

A student who wishes to study a topic related to their program of study, but not regularly offered in the Seminary's curriculum, may choose to enroll in an Independent Study. Typically, a three-credit independent study will include significant reading and written work and on-going contact with the faculty member. Normally an Independent Study may only be negotiated with any resident member of the Seminary faculty (core faculty or faculty associate) for any semester of the academic year. The student must register for an Independent Study during the scheduled registration period for that semester by completing an Independent Study Contract. Independent Study Contracts include the following elements: (1) project overview, (2) learning objectives, (3) methods for completion, (4) forms of accountability/assessment, (5) resources and bibliography, and (6) schedule for completion. Student may not take more than three credits of Independent Study coursework. Independent Study courses may not be used to fulfill core requirements. Independent Study courses are subject to all academic and course policies and procedures as outlined in the Catalogue.

Information Literacy Requirement

Students being awarded a degree from Hartford Seminary must demonstrate a degree of information literacy that includes research ability (both traditional and electronic) and communication skills (both oral and written) commensurate with graduate level academic standards as specified by the Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada (ATS) and the New England Commission of Higher Education (NECHE).

January Intersession Courses

A limited number of intensive courses are offered during January. The course instructors require students to complete reading and writing assignments throughout the spring semester and to submit final course assignments by the end of the semester. However, the course instructor is responsible for setting his/her coursework deadline as she/he deems appropriate for completion of the course.

Leave of Absence

Students who find it necessary to interrupt their planned program of study due to serious life difficulties (medical, family, employment, etc.) may request a leave of absence by submitting a petition through their faculty advisor to the Academic Policy Committee. This petition should include reasons for seeking a leave and a schedule for resuming study. When the Committee has made a decision, the student will receive a letter informing her or him of the decision. For financial purposes approved leaves of absence are limited to 180 days per calendar year. All requirements for a Master of Arts degrees must be completed within four years. (Students who are recipients of federal financial aid should refer to the Financial Aid section of this Catalogue for additional leave of absence stipulations.)

Students who have not received an approved leave of absence or have not registered for a course for two consecutive academic semesters will be removed from the program with notification. A student who has been inactive within this period may reactivate by petitioning the Academic Policy Committee and paying any unpaid tuition or fees within 30 days.

On-Campus Classroom Requirement

With the exception of the Master of Arts in International Peacebuilding, there are no residency requirements for the Masters degrees.

However, students enrolled in the Cooperative M.Div. program who plan to transfer to Yale Divinity School should plan to take all of the courses that make up the Hartford Seminary segment of their degrees in the classroom on the Hartford Seminary campus.

On-Going Registration

Once admission has been granted by Hartford Seminary and accepted by the student, all students must register for at least one course or program component each semester until all degree requirements are completed. Students needing to discontinue course registration for one semester may do so by applying to the Academic Policy Committee for a leave of absence. Students who are continuing to work on their final project and have already registered for the component in a prior semester or semesters must pay the program extension fee (see Program Extension Fee). The Academic Policy Committee may terminate the program of any student who has not requested a Leave of Absence and failed to enroll in a course for two or more consecutive semesters.

Plagiarism Policy

Plagiarism, the failure to give proper credit for the words and ideas of another person, whether published or unpublished, is strictly prohibited. All written material submitted by students must be their own original work; where the words and ideas of others are used they must be acknowledged. Additionally, if students receive editorial help with their writing they should also acknowledge it appropriately.

Credit will not be given for work containing plagiarism, and plagiarism can lead to failure of a course. Faculty will report all instances of plagiarism to the Academic Dean. The Academic Dean will then collect documented details of the case and advance any recommendations for further action to the Academic Policy Committee. Through this process the situation will be reviewed and any additional penalties that may be warranted (up to and including expulsion from the school) will be determined.

For clarity as to what constitutes plagiarism, the following description is provided:

1. Word for word plagiarism: (a) the submission of another person's work as one's own; (b) the submission of a commercially prepared paper; (c) the submission of work from a source which is not acknowledged by a footnote or other specific reference in the paper itself; (d) the submission of any part of another person's work without proper use of quotation marks.

2. Plagiarism by paraphrase: (a) mere re-arrangement of another person's works and phrases does not make them your own and also constitutes plagiarism; (b) paraphrasing another person's words, ideas, and information without acknowledging the original source from which you took them is also plagiarism. See Part II of Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses and Dissertations, (7th Edition, University of Chicago Press, 2007) for an explanation of the proper ways to acknowledge the work of others and to avoid plagiarism.

3. Reuse of your own work: Coursework submitted for credit in one course cannot be submitted for credit in another course. While technically not plagiarism, this type of infraction will be treated in the same manner as plagiarism and will be subject to the same penalties. If you are using small amounts of material from a previous submitted work, that work should be referenced appropriately. When a student is writing their final program requirement (paper, project or thesis) it may be appropriate, with their advisor's permission, to include portions of previously submitted materials if properly referenced.

Program Extension Fee

Students who have taken all of their coursework and are not currently registered for their final requirement (paper, project or thesis) will be charged a per semester program extension fee. This fee will be charged for each semester (or fraction thereof), not including summer terms, necessary to complete the degree.

Readmission

Students who have previously been admitted to a graduate level program at Hartford Seminary who have decided to return to the program after initially withdrawing, may apply for readmission. Students wishing to be readmitted must complete a new application and personal statement. The personal statement should address the reasons the student withdrew and why they feel they are able to return at this time. If the student has been away from the Seminary for an extended period, an interview may also be required. Assuming the student is seeking readmission to the same graduate level program, previously earned credits from Hartford Seminary will be allowed to count toward the degree or certificate, but only if they were taken within the last 10 years. Readmitted students will be required to fulfill program requirements as listed in the Hartford Seminary Catalogue at the time of readmission.

Registration Procedures

Matriculated Students: Registration for courses and program components must be completed by the registration deadlines indicated in the Academic Calendar. The Registrar sends registration information to students approximately six weeks prior to the registration deadline.

All matriculated graduate program students are required to meet with their faculty advisor to determine their course selections. Registration deadlines and advising periods for each semester may be found in the Academic Calendar. Registration after the registration deadline results in a $50 non-refundable late fee. Students may confirm that their registrations have been processed by viewing their schedule through the student access portal.

When faculty advisors are on sabbatical, students may meet with the Registrar or Dean during the registration period to discuss course options for the next semester.

Special Students: Special students may register for courses up to and including the first day the course begins without penalty. Special students seeking assistance with course selection may meet with the Registrar. Special students may take 6 credits prior to applying to a degree program.

Student Discipline Policy and Procedure

It is the policy of Hartford Seminary to conduct an impartial investigation of the facts, an impartial hearing and review of those facts and to make recommendations as to what action should be taken with regard to any issue concerning student conduct brought to the attention of the Dean in writing. Details of the Student Discipline Policy and Procedure are provided in the Student Handbook

Student Grievance Policy and Procedure

It is the intention of this policy to encourage and facilitate resolution of a grievance that a student may have with a faculty member, supervisor, administrator, member of the staff, or another student. The desire is to resolve the grievance in the early stages of the procedure. However, the procedure does provide for full mediation in a fair, equitable and timely manner. Please see the in the Student Handbook.

Summer Session Courses

A limited number of intensive courses are offered during Summer session. The course instructors require students to complete reading and writing assignments throughout the summer and to submit final course assignments by dates set in the course syllabus.

Termination of Program

A student's degree program may be terminated on the written request of the student, or by action of the Academic Policy Committee, if the student's performance is deemed unsatisfactory or if tuition and fee payments are not made as required. The termination of a student's program by the Academic Policy Committee does not cancel financial obligations the student incurred at the Seminary while enrolled. Students who have not received an approved leave of absence, registered for a course for two consecutive academic semesters will be notified that they will be removed from the program unless they respond within 30 days. A student who has been removed may apply for reactivation by petitioning the Academic Policy Committee within two years of the notification and paying any unpaid tuition. (Students who are recipients of federal financial aid should refer to the Financial Aid section of this Catalogue for additional leave of absence stipulations.)

Transcripts

For the protection of students and former students, all transcript requests must be submitted in writing and personally signed, or requested via the student access portal transcript request page. Requests that are sent via e-mail cannot be honored. Transcripts will not be issued by fax. Upon written request and submission of the transcript fee of $10 to the Registrar, students and alumni may, at any time, request the Registrar to send their official transcript to a school or organization of their choice. Please allow 3-5 business days for transcript requests to be processed by the Registrar. Transcripts are issued only when all financial obligations to the Seminary have been met. Students may view and print an unofficial course report through the student access portal at anytime.

Withdrawal from a Course

Students may withdraw from courses at any time before a course ends. However, financial and academic consequences will be imposed according to the following schedule:

Academic

- Withdrawal before the drop deadline (see academic calendar for exact date): None. The course is dropped from the student's transcript.
- Withdrawal after the drop deadline, up to and including the mid-point of the semester (see academic calendar for exact date): A "W" will be posted to the student's transcript. A "W" has no effect on the student's grade point average.
- Withdrawal after the mid-point of the semester and up to and including the last class: Faculty member will be asked to assign a grade of either "WF" (Withdraw Fail) or "WP" (Withdraw Pass). A "WF" is counted in the student's grade point average as a failure.

Financial

- Students who withdraw from a course before the drop deadline are entitled to a full tuition refund.
- Students who withdraw after the drop deadline are charged in full for the tuition of that course.
- Refunds to the student will be made within 30 days of the date that the Seminary determines the student has officially withdrawn.

On-Line Courses

- Withdrawal from on-line courses will be allowed according to the above guidelines

Intensive Courses

For courses that meet on a non-weekly, intensive format the withdrawal schedule will be as follows:

Academic:

- Withdrawal before the second class meeting: None. The course is dropped from the student's transcript.
- Withdrawal after the second, but up to and including the third class meeting: A "W" will be posted to the student's transcript. A "W" has no effect on the student's grade point average.
- Withdrawal after the third class meeting, up to and including the last class: Faculty member will be asked to assign a grade of either "WF" (Withdraw Fail) or "WP" (Withdraw Pass). A "WF" is counted in the student's grade point average as a failure.

Financial

- Students who withdraw from a course before the second class meeting are entitled to a full tuition refund.
- Students who withdraw after the second class meeting are charged in full for the tuition of that course.
- Refunds to the student will be made within 30 days of the date that the Seminary determines the student has officially withdrawn.

A student who needs to withdraw for health reasons may petition the Academic Policy Committee for a waiver of the above penalties and must provide documentation from a medical professional. A student who fails to complete requirements of the class receives a failure. To request withdrawal from a course after the drop deadline students must submit a Course Withdrawal form to the Registrar's Office. Failure to attend classes does not constitute a withdrawal. Withdrawal after a class stops meeting is not possible without a review by the Academic Policy Committee. However, a student with a medical reason can petition the Academic Policy Committee for a "WP" if the faculty member agrees that the student was passing at the time of withdrawal.

Writing Assistance

Hartford Seminary is committed to providing our students with the tools they need to successfully complete our program. One service we offer is writing assistance. Writing assistance services may consist of individualized work with a Writing Consultant or group workshops. Writing assistance is available to all matriculated students upon request, and at no charge. Writing assistance may also be recommended to newly admitted students by the Admissions Committee, or recommended to enrolled students by the Faculty. Further information about these services is available from the Dean's Office.

Master of Arts Specific PoliciesAdvanced Standing

The total credit awarded for Advanced Standing and transfer credit combined may not exceed the maximum transfer credit for the specific degree program.

MAIRS - Up to six "Advanced Standing" credits may be awarded toward the MAIRS degree after the completion of at least one semester as an enrolled student at Hartford Seminary. The purpose of granting this credit is to acknowledge significant learning outside the context of a traditional graduate degree program. Credit is awarded by the Academic Policy Committee upon petition by the student. The petition must include a detailed record of the work or learning experiences for which credit is sought, accompanied by supporting documentation, and articulate how these experiences have increased the student's level of understanding and ability to meet a personal, career, or ministry goal. Experiences must be within 10 years of the date of petition in order to be eligible for credit. Students who have completed the eight course curriculum required for Hartford Seminary's Black Ministries Program or Hispanic Ministries Program certificate programs may submit a single petition for six credits under the Advanced Standing provision. Students seeking to apply for Advanced Standing credit should obtain the Guidelines for Requesting Advanced Standing Credit and consult with their faculty advisor, who must provide a letter of support for the petition.

MAC - Up to six "Advanced Standing" credits may be awarded toward the MAC degree. Students with an extensive background in religious leadership may apply to the Academic Policy Committee to be granted Advanced Standing for previous religious leadership experiences relevant to their intended field within Chaplaincy (ex. military, university, correctional facility, hospital, etc.). Students who completed CPE prior to admission may request that the Seminary (via a letter with documentation to the Academic Policy Committee) apply for 3 credits of advanced for one unit of CPE at level II or higher. Students must complete at least one unit of CPE at the Seminary.

Petitions for Advanced Standing need to be made in accordance with the "Advanced Standing Guidelines of Hartford Seminary" and will be acted on by the Academic Policy Committee in consultation with the Director of the Chaplaincy Program

MAP – In select cases, students who have undertaken significant learning outside the context of a traditional graduate degree program that is specific to peacebuilding may be eligible for 3 credits of advanced standing to count toward the elective requirement.

Transfer Credit

Students who have taken graduate level courses in religion from an accredited institution that have not been applied toward a previous degree may ask for these courses to be applied toward their Master of Arts in Interreligious Studies degree. In order to be considered eligible for transfer, these credits must have been earned within ten years prior to initial enrollment as a matriculated student at Hartford Seminary or taken while the student is pursuing their degree at Hartford Seminary. MAIRS students may receive up to 9 credits of transfer credit. Any course taken at another institution while a student is enrolled at Hartford Seminary must be pre-approved by the student's advisor and the Dean (students must complete the Transfer Credit Pre-approval form). The total credit awarded for Advanced Standing and transfer credit combined may not exceed the maximum transfer credit for the specific degree program.

Transfer credit is not permitted in the MA in Chaplaincy or the MA in International Peacebuilding.

Graduate Certificate

GC-580 Field Education for Islamic Chaplaincy

The content and setting of field education will vary according to the needs of the students. Normally, students will be expected to work 8 hours a week for 30 weeks for a total of 240 hours in an Islamic institution or organization. Such institutions or organizations include, but are not limited to, mosques, Islamic schools or Islamic social service organizations. See the Islamic Chaplaincy section for more information. (As needed)

Master of Arts

MA-592 Independent Study

Faculty

A student who wishes to study a topic related to their program but not regularly offered in the Seminary's curriculum may wish to enroll in an Independent Study. An Independent Study may be negotiated with a member of the Seminary faculty for any semester of the academic year. Independent Study courses are subject to all academic and course policies and procedures as outlined in the Catalogue. Students wishing to do an Independent Study must submit a completed "Independent Study Contract" with their registration form. (As needed)

MA-796 Final Paper (3 credits)/MA-797 Final Project (3 credits)

Faculty Advisor

The final paper or project requires the student to demonstrate his or her capacity to apply, integrate, and reflect on the perspectives addressed by the Master of Arts degree program with focused study in a selected area. (As needed)

MA-798/MA-799 MA Thesis (6 credits)

Faculty Advisor

The thesis requires the student to complete in-depth research (a review of literature) and critical analysis, integration, and reflection on the perspectives and theory addressed by the Master of Arts program with focused study in a selected area. (As needed)

Doctor of Ministry

DM-892 Independent Study

Faculty

A student who wishes to study a topic related to their program but not regularly offered in the Seminary's curriculum may wish to enroll in an Independent Study. An Independent Study may be negotiated with a member of the Seminary faculty for any semester of the academic year. Independent Study courses are subject to all academic and course policies and procedures as outlined in the Catalogue. Students wishing to do an Independent Study must submit a completed "Independent Study Contract" with their registration form. (As needed)

DM-896/DM-897 Ministry Project

Faculty Advisor

The Ministry Project addresses a significant issue within the student's ministry setting and involves the design, implementation, evaluation and reflection on an action in ministry. The project consists of the ministry project proposal, which includes a review of the literature, an action component, and a final written report. Required for the Doctor of Ministry degree. (As needed)

Doctor of PhilosophyPHD-900: Research Methodology and Scholarly Development I

What does doing Ph.D. level scholarship look like? What does it involve? What types of research skills and techniques are required for doctoral-level academic study, and particularly, the study of religion in general and Interreligious relations in specific? This course will answer such questions, and more!

PHD-901: Research Methodology and Scholar Development II

What is it like to present and defend an academic paper? What are the roles of the facilitator? how does writing a book review or assessing academic essays look like? How do professional scholars pursue their research presentation? How do I write and present my doctoral thesis proposal? This seminar will attend to such inquiries, and will continue to provide students with opportunities for collegial interaction by inviting them to witness professional scholars attending to paper-reading, book reviewing, essay's assessing and proposal writing tasks before them in the seminar's sessions. The students will also be asked to lead one of the sessions and also to rehearse presenting and defending their doctoral thesis proposal in another.

PHD-902-905: Comprehensive Exams

The Comprehensive Exams are intended to assess competency and depth of the students' comprehensive knowledge and ability to use research methods in the area of specialization through two major exams and mastery of a specific field of specialization in two minor exams. The two major exams will be taken in the program's two major areas of study: Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations, Theologies of Interreligious Engagement/Interfaith Dialogue. The two minor exams will consist of two papers on subjects relevant to the student's research focus. The focus and scope of the papers should be established in consultation with the Advisor. The minor exams should be completed by March and the major exams by May of the third year.

Arts of MinistryAM-550: Quran Recitation/Tajweed

Ghassal - Fall 2021

This course is designed for Muslim leaders and chaplains and anyone who is interested in learning and improving their Quranic recitation. Students will gain important knowledge on recitation of the Quran. In this course, the instructor will focus on correct pronunciation of Arabic letters and words with consistent application of tajweed rules.

Class time will be divided between teaching a tajweed lesson and group Tilawah, an exercise during which the teacher reads aloud and the students repeat after the teacher. There will be time for listening to the students' recitations, as well.

Once each student understands and is comfortable with the application of the tajweed rules, s/he can complete recitation of the entire mushaf at a better and faster pace and more independently, in sha Allah. This course may be accompanied by the spring semester course AM-551: Quran Recitation/Tajweed II.

Course fulfills the following curricular requirements:

MAIRS – Islamic Studies: Elective

MAC – Islamic Chaplaincy Elective

AM-551: Qur'ān Recitation/Tajwīd II

Ghassal - Spring 2022

This course is designed for Muslim leaders, chaplains and anyone who is interested in learning/improving the Qur'ānic recitation. Students will gain important knowledge on recitation of the Qur'ān. In this course, the instructor will continue focusing on the correct pronunciation of Arabic letters and words with consistent application of tajwīd rules. Once students understand and are comfortable with the application of the tajwīd rules s/he can complete recitation of the entire mushaf at a better and faster pace more independently, in sha Allah.

This is the second phase of the Qur'ān Recitation/Tajwīd course. In the spring semester, we will be continuing tajwīd lessons and reading Qur'ān. The first part of the class will be teaching tajwīd rules and the second part is for group tilāwah – teacher reads aloud and students repeat after the teacher. There will be time for listening to the students' recitation, as well.

AM-604: Theologies of Chaplaincies: Working on the Edge of Religion

Schaper - January Intersession 2022

This course aids in the chaplain's role definition as a person representing religion and God on the edges of religious institutions. It privileges the complex experience of representing faith in multifaith and/or secular contexts and/or blended contexts. The course will explore the role of a chaplain in a variety of settings, including medical facilities, universities, prisons, and as advocates in institutions and places as yet unconsidered. This course provides an introductory experience for people considering and training for chaplaincy as a vocation.

Course fulfills the following curricular requirements:

MAIRS - Ministerial Studies: Arts of Ministry

MAC - Chaplaincy Elective

Watts - Fall 2021

Combining the substance of an introduction with the intimacy of a workshop, this course will explore theological and rhetorical foundations for preaching and provide practical experience in delivery and critique. Noting variety among denominational, theological and cultural traditions, the course will take an ecumenical approach rooted by an affirmation of the hermeneutic centrality of Scripture and the liturgical significance of preaching. Students will complete written assignments and special exercises, preach, and offer constructive critiques of sermons.

MAIRS – Ministerial Studies: Arts of Ministry

AM-638: Essential Skills in Pastoral Counseling and Ministry

Watts - Fall 2022

This course will offer pastors, lay ministers and caregivers an opportunity to learn basic counseling skills for use in pastoral settings. Students will develop skills in assessment, honoring ethical concerns and addressing the most common diagnoses such as depression and anxiety. Attention will be given to clarifying the differences between pastoral care and pastoral counseling. Issues of referral to professional mental health resources and community agencies also will be addressed.

Yuskaev - Summer 2022

This course is an exploration in contemporary and past Muslim homiletics. Our approach is both descriptive and practical. For those who are interested in Muslim oral discourses as an academic subject, the course offers a chance to learn about the subject from historical and anthropological perspectives. Our examples will be from the United States, the Middle East, and beyond. For those who are or plan to be Muslim public speakers, the course offers extensive practical exercises designed to develop and improve their skills as lecturers and khatibs.

Mosher - Spring 2022

When loss or great stress is multireligious (or the response to it should be) there is need for robust resources and strategies for interfaith collaborative leadership. What does our own tradition have to offer? To what spiritual resources do our neighbors of other lifeways turn? What are we to do when access to those resources is disrupted? How can faith-based leaders provide comfort, hope, and cautious wisdom with integrity when anxiety, grief, fear, or demands for physical distancing threaten to overwhelm or isolate? When great loss exacerbates bigotry and blaming, what actions can we take? What sorts of interfaith collaboration have proven effective? Drawing upon case studies, scripture, devotional/theological writings, and interfaith leadership scholarship, this asynchronous online course takes on these (and related) questions as it strives to develop or deepen awareness of effective forms and methods of religion-specific and interfaith spiritual guidance in religiously plural contexts

AM-674: LGBTQ History & Theory

Piazza - Fall 2022

In this course we will explore an often hidden history that resulted in a significant attitudinal shift in Americans in less than half a century. Understanding how this happened might offer helpful lessons for faith movements seeking to change attitudes and values. Different faith communities have responded differently to lesbian, gay, and transgendered people this course will assume an accepting posture, and will approach the attitudinal changes in the United States as a generally positive thing. While you do not need to agree with this value, the class will be of greatest benefit if you are able to appreciate those who have worked hard for LGBTQ equality.

AM-731: Psychology of Trauma

Keshavarzi - Spring 2022

This course is focused on the study of psychological trauma. It will provide students with a comprehensive review of psychological trauma and its types (sexual abuse, combat, life tragedies), using readings, lectures and clinical case discussions. The course begins with a discussion of a range of traumatic events and definitions of trauma symptoms and responses. The course will then explore etiology, assessment, identification, process exposure approaches in working with trauma, vicarious and secondary trauma, 'spiritual' manifestations of trauma, the physiological impact of trauma on the brain and some common comorbid conditions that accompany trauma. Other various expressions and associated symptoms of psychological trauma are discussed as it pertains to the work contexts of chaplains. Research on the relevant risk and protective factors associated with traumatic stress is also presented.

CH-510: Sociology and Psychology for Chaplains

Fall 2022

This course introduces you to the central tools and concepts within the disciplines of sociology and psychology that provide insights into the spiritual care work of chaplains across a variety of settings. The course explores how religion is present and influential in public and private life, with particular attention to everyday lived religious practices, religious communities, and religious identities. The course design and assignments create a dialogue between the theoretical and the practical, giving chaplains insight into assessing the never-ending negotiation of religion's place in society and institutions through in-depth case studies and training in ethnographic research.

Grafton - Spring 2022

This course employs a wide range of instructional methods to enable students as spiritual caregivers (chaplains or ministers) to gain insight into how residents of America's multireligious communities engage in deliberative reflection on matters of ultimate concern, what answers they might give to "worldview questions," what sacred sources they use to do so, and how they utilize those sources for caregiving. Students will engage in examination of real life case studies, develop skills in self-reflection as a spiritual care giver, and receive the guidance of colleagues and the instructor as they develop their working knowledge of foundational theological principles and sacred sources within their own spiritual tradition and how those can be integrated into the professional practice of chaplaincy and ministry.

CH-540: Religious and Cultural Contemporary Ethics

Mosher - Spring 2023

This is one of two MAC core courses in which recent efforts in the interdisciplinary study of psychology/sociology are brought to bear on the field of theology, scripture, and ethics in the provision of care. Both courses explore the unique challenges that their subject matter poses to theological claims about God, humans, and the nature and meaning of healing or suffering. Both consider how the integration of theory and practice help a chaplain to examine the contributions that theology and religious traditions offer to analyze and address the subject matter. These courses aim to familiarize students with a particular field of knowledge or area of study and to deepen their ability to respond theologically to the complex challenges confronting challenged persons and communities.

The core course “Religious and Cultural Contemporary Ethics” facilitates understanding of various ethical theories appropriate to professional context, spiritual and emotional dimensions of human development, organizational behavior, group dynamics, and political/social drivers like race, ethnicity, or gender. Making extensive use of case-studies and current journal articles, it addresses cultural or ethical challenges that particular contexts may bring to religious leaders. This course addresses the following Common Qualifications and Competencies for Professional Chaplains promulgated by the Board of Chaplaincy Certification, Inc.: ITP4, ITP5, PIC6, PIC7, PIC9, PPS2, PPS3, PPS7, OL1, OL2, OL3, OL4, OL5.

CH-618: Muslim Pastoral Theology

Ansari - Fall 2021

Theology and spirituality are so ubiquitous in our lived experience that we often fail to take their significance into account when leading and advising in institutions as chaplains. How does sacred law (covenant/formation, boundaries, divine nearness/distance) shape pastoral and spiritual care? How do theology and spirituality reflect cultural/religious perceptions and practices? How are institutions and the institutionalized relevant to shaping pastoral and spiritual care? This intensive course explores the fundamentals of Islamic legal, theological and spiritual theory and methods, with an emphasis on technical skill, self evaluation, and pastoral care practice. Through readings, lectures, discussions, and exercises you will be encouraged to reflect and think theologically and to apply Muslim Pastoral Theology to your areas of institutional chaplaincy.

CH-621: Death and Dying

Schaper - Fall 2021

Grief is a form of Love. Religious professionals know as much about love as we do about death – and we also know what we don't know and that we can never know enough. This class assists us in making meaning out of the mystery of death and its attendant losses. We will develop understandings which help us minister, attend, validate, and recognize each other and ourselves. From these understandings, skills develop.

CH-659: Prison Ministry: Healing Inside and Liberation Outside

Ansari - Summer 2022

This course will examine traditional and contemporary approaches to spiritual care for ministry to the incarcerated that are rooted in one's faith or source of meaning-making. This course requires students to be self-reflective, capable of critically and theologically reflecting on scriptural literature and able to articulate one's spiritual care practice. This course engages a critical service-learning pedagogy and navigates contemporary theories for integrated care with traditional religious practices for incarcerated souls. This course is meant to provide a chaplain with arts of ministry that demonstrate understanding and ability to function as a professional care provider with the Board of Chaplaincy Certification's common qualifications and competencies.

CH-725: Advanced Counseling Technique

Keshavarzi - Summer 2023

This is an advanced hands-on training and supervision designed to further equip chaplains to provide counseling to individuals, couples, and families, with special attention to Muslim clients. More specifically, core topics will include identification and differentiation of more complex presentations of psychospiritual issues, illustrations of how to work with psychological trauma, process oriented interventions, deepening of the introspective and emotional processes of counseling encounters, more complex dynamics of the counselor/client relationship, examination of metacommunication, cognitive restructuring, behavioral modification and spiritually oriented interventions with some attention on the role of character reformation. This is an experiential course that will involve some lecture, discussion of case vignettes, modeling/demonstrations of techniques and role-play. While these are critical skills for Islamic chaplains to learn, chaplains from other faith traditions may benefit from learning how to counsel across cultures and faith traditions, using the Muslim tradition as a case example. (Prerequisites: CH-615 Mental Health: A Spiritual Perspective & AM-638 Essential Skills in Pastoral Counseling or permission of the instructor.)

CH-730: Resilience for Spiritual Leaders

Mehr-Muska - Spring 2022

This course is designed for people of all spiritual/religious backgrounds who are providing spiritual and emotional support to others, leading faith communities, serving as chaplains, working on justice issues, or seeking additional self-care practices. This course about resilience teaches the participants about the characteristics of resilience, invites the participants to engage in reflective self-assessment, and provides the participants with tools and resources to enable them to develop strategies to help the people they serve in their contexts build resilience. The course includes lectures, individual reflection, independent reading, written reflection, resilience-building workshop exercises, and small-group discussion. It is only through learning to cultivate our own resilience that we can mindfully extend that invitation to others through our programs, teaching/preaching, conversations, and role modeling.

Dialogue (DI)DI-501: Introduction to Islam for Non-Muslims

Harmakaputra - Summer 2023

This course introduces non-Muslims to Islamic beliefs, practices, scriptures, and Muslim communities, especially in the United States. The course is designed to address the significant need for basic information about Islam in the contemporary context. Through a combination of lectures, readings, site visits, and discussions, the course will cover Muslim beliefs and practices, issues faced by Muslims living in the United States, the vital roles that women play in Muslim communities, and current interfaith efforts, such as A Common Word Between Us and You initiative, movements and models of interfaith activities in the US, and peacebuilding in the post-conflict society in Indonesia

DI-550: Introduction to Interreligious Studies

Mosher - Offered every fall

The gateway course to the MA in Interreligious Studies and a required course for the MA in Peacebuilding curriculum, Introduction to Interreligious Studies is an intersectional, integrative course that promotes deep understanding of worldviews different from one's own. The course integrates theory and practice in exploring how diverse individuals and groups understand "religion" and how those with differing understandings relate to one another. The course cultivates the dynamic link between theory and practice as it engages in critical investigation of relations between people (whether individuals or groups) who orient around "religion" differently. As an introduction to Interreligious Studies, this course explores such themes as the meaning of "religion," the discourse of "othering" and theologies of religious difference, comparative theology, interreligious hermeneutics, urban social history methodologies, interreligious dialogue, faith-based collaboration, and more.

Ethics (ET)ET-640: Introduction to Islamic Law

Laher - Spring 2022

This course will provide a critical overview of the history and practice of Islamic law. We begin by examining the origins of Islamic law, the development of the classical schools of jurisprudence and the nature of pre-modern legal institutions, especially the courts and madrasa education. In following classes, we will explore the substance of classical Islamic law, especially in the areas of family, finance and international relations. Next, we will discuss the impact of colonialism and modernity on Islamic legal discourses and institutions and finish with a discussion of the way in which Islamic law is observed in contemporary America.

ET-643: The Higher Objectives of Islamic Law

Laheer - Spring 2023

All human beings seek their own welfare and benefit, but what sorts of benefit and gain are really of value in the long run and therefore legitimate to pursue? This course provides the opportunity to step back to see the bigger picture of Islamic rules and regulations, the universal principles or higher objectives (maqasid) underlying them, and the complex interplay of reason, revelation, ethics and utility within this coherent system. We examine the Islamic understandings of good/evil and benefit/harm, and discuss five overarching objectives of all Islamic regulations – the protection of religion, life, progeny, mind and property. We touch on the principles of ethical dilemmas, such as choosing between lesser and greater harms, and balancing individual rights with public interest. We also look at the theory and practice of maqasid today, including their applicability to contemporary global ethical challenges. (Prerequisite: ET-640)

Kamaly - Spring 2022

For Muslims committed to living Islam as a way of life, contemporary society offers many challenges. A commitment to the common good exists in tension with the need to protect individual rights. The desire to uphold family values may conflict with the need to defend pluralism and civil liberties. In a world threatened with violence from many sources, self-defense and security take on new meaning. In this class, we will examine these tensions and the Islamic principles that can help Muslims live ethically and with integrity in American society.

History (HI)

HI-523: The History of Christianity: Defining Moments of a Faith

Clark - Spring 2023

In this course, we will visit some of the most critical moments in the history of Christianity, moments of crisis that shaped its very nature. Some of these defining moments produced shared understandings that have endured for centuries, while others fractured Christianity into divergent forms. To investigate both the unity and diversity of Christianity, we will search out Christians of many times and places, looking in ancient Roman catacombs and North African caves, medieval cathedrals, storefront churches, and open-air meetings. We will look to historical narratives, original writings, works of art, and sacred songs to help us to experience the moments that defined and diversified Christianity. This course is suitable for all who wish to deepen their understanding of Christianity.

Clark - Spring 2022

Over the last century, Christianity has undergone great change. Christian practice plummeted in Europe, was decimated in the Middle East, and has grown rapidly in Asia, Oceania, Latin America, and sub-Saharan Africa. Today Christians are found nearly everywhere on earth, saying their prayers in myriad languages and practicing their faith in vastly varied cultures. In this course we will encounter Christians from every continent, seeing their faces, hearing their voices, and exploring the ways in which they practice their faith. To gain a “big picture” perspective on the current state and recent history of World Christianity, we will read some of the best work in this exciting new field. Together we will build a kind of composite portrait album of modern Christians, a way of seeing Christians in relation to one another that does not dismiss their serious differences. This course is suitable as an appropriate starting point for those beginning their study of Christianity, but it also provides students with more background in Christianity a global perspective on the faith.

HI-536: The Life of the Prophet Muhammad

Laher - Fall 2022

This course introduces students to the life of Muhammad ﷺ, the prophet-founder of Islam, and his depiction in both Muslim and non-Muslim sources. After sequentially examining his life, as presented in the early biographical sources, we turn to examine the diverse images and conceptions of him across history, among various Muslim circles (including Sunni, Shi'i and Sufi conceptions) as well as non-Muslims. We will also discuss the Prophet's teachings, and his roles (legislative, political, etc.). Students will also be introduced to the critical methods used in contemporary academic scholarship to investigate the Prophet's life.

Grafton - January Intersession 2022

Judaism, Christianity, and Islam have often been called the Abrahamic Religions, as they all claim the Patriarch Abraham. To what extent do these three faiths identify with him, claim him, and share him? This course will use an historical approach to problematize the Abrahamic identities of early Jewish, Christian and Muslim communities, their views of the Patriarch, and how such identities have guided and impacted inter-communal relations. Special attention will be given to the use of sacred Scriptures that shape and provide meaning and identity for today.

Gardner - Spring 2022

The first sixteen words of the United States Bill of Rights read, “Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.” Through these words, people of all faith traditions within the United States have a right to practice their religious tradition free from government interference or endorsement. But what is the extent of these rights and what are their limitations? Can religious rights be applied equally across all faith traditions? This class will interrogate the politics of religious liberty with a particular focus on the context of the United States. In the first section of the course, students will study the history of minority and dissenting traditions in colonial America that led the inclusion of religious rights within the Bill of Rights. The class will then turn to examining important court cases throughout American history that have both sought to expand and limit the rights of religious people. Through engaging these court cases, the course will also analyze how diverse religious groups work together to protect their shared religious rights. The final weeks of the course will examine religious liberty from an international perspective, and the challenges and limitations of U.S. approaches to religious liberty. Students will come away from the course with a better knowledge of both the challenges of protecting religious rights within a multi-faith society as well as the ways in which students can constructively work across faith traditions to protect religious liberty.

Grafton - Fall 2022

The interpretation of Islam and Christian-Muslim encounters has become highly politicized, ideological, and controversial. Islam and Christianity have been described as either sibling children of Abraham sharing much in common or part of a monolithic clash of incompatible civilizations. This course will survey the history of Christian-Muslim relations, giving attention to how contemporary events shape our memories of past events and identities. Students will examine the origins of the encounter, the diversity of historical contexts, and interpretive frameworks to provide tools to develop their own critical perspectives on Christian-Muslim relations for contemporary public engagement.

Kamaly - Fall 2021

This course explores historical formations of major Muslim beliefs, practices, and traditions in the context of socio-political institutions. It engages narratives on the development of Islam which have come forth from various perspectives. Topics range from the emergence of the community of faith around the Prophet to established orders under different polities. Chronologically, this course covers from the 7th to the 17th century CE, from Late Antiquity to the Early Modern Period. Geographically, coverage extends from what is presently called the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) to southern Spain (Al-Andalus), as well as Asia Minor, the Caucasus, Central Asia, India, and the Malay Peninsula.

Peacebuilding (IP)

IP-500: Introduction to Peacebuilding

Milliken - Offered every fall

This course will have three distinct parts: Orientation, Introduction to Peacebuilding, and Capstone Preparation, all designed to set students up for success in their year at Hartford Seminary. The Orientation will serve to introduce students to each other, and prepare them for a year of study with Hartford Seminary. Introduction to Peacebuilding will familiarize students with a collective peacebuilding vocabulary they will use throughout the year. Additionally, this short course will introduce international students to the participatory nature of higher education in the United States. Capstone Preparation will be done in two parts. In August, students will learn about capstone requirements. During the week after graduation they will work with their capstone advisors to advance their capstone plans. Students are expected to have read The Moral Imagination by John Paul Lederach prior to the start of class.

IP-510: Constructive Conflict Intervention

Milliken - Offered every fall

This class will train each student to be a mediating presence in interpersonal and community conflicts. The instructor will teach conflict transformation ideology and tools for conflict analysis to build student's capacity to understand and respond to conflict in ways which advance justice. In conflict transformation-inspired mediation, the primary goal is to improve the relationships between the parties to allow them to chart their own solutions. Students will learn the five-stage mediation process so that they could conduct a complete formal mediation. However, the emphasis will be on understanding the goals and practices of each stage so that they can informally and effectively intervene in the conflicts in their own lives and their own communities. The class will use case studies to build skills in conflict analysis. Students will also practice skills through partner exercises and small group mediation role plays. Students will also be asked to use the skills outside the classroom, and reflect on those experiences verbally or in writing.

IP-611: Peace, Justice, and Violence in Sacred Texts

Harmakaputra & Laher - Offered every spring

Students in this course will examine sources from the Hebrew Bible, New Testament, and Quran that relate to peace, justice and violence. Students will analyze sacred texts in their original socio-historical contexts, and will explore diverse ways Jewish, Christian and Muslim sources confront and interpret these texts. Students will take a case study approach to investigate how texts from all three Abrahamic traditions can and have been used to legitimate violent conflict and injustice toward others in real-life settings (e.g., empires, religious persecution, colonialism, misogyny, racism, and Anti-Semitism), as well as how they can and have been used to promote peaceful practices and just relations (peace movements, provision of care for the poor and sick by religious orders and communities, peaceable co-existence and cooperation with religious and ethnic others, liberation and justice movements).

IP-612: Religious Leadership for Peaceful Change

Peers - Offered every spring

How can religious leaders tackle injustice and be agents for peaceful, purposeful change at the community and societal level? We will hone perspectives and practices for leading adaptive change and for engaging in nonviolent processes for change in contemporary issues. We will explore the role that religious and community leaders can play in healing collective trauma (e.g., racism, war, community violence, etc.) and in facilitating peacemaking practices. We will learn from the participants' experiences and from some case examples on building leadership partnerships from the community up, where arts, media, education, "presencing practices" and ritual can serve as catalysts for community engagement and for social healing. This course will be a once-a-month intensive using an experience-based learning methodology. IP-613: Identity and Otherness in Religious Communities

Norton - Offered every summer

There is a tendency within individuals and societies to organize and collectively define themselves along dimensions of difference and sameness. This course uses the framework of "otherness" and "belonging" to explore how othering becomes structured and embedded within religious communities. In other words, what are the dynamics, processes, and structures that engender marginality and persistent inequality within our own religious communities? We will use an intersectional, interdisciplinary, and dialogical approach to examine essential concepts such as individual and group identity formation, expression, and boundaries; the dual sides of social cohesion and internal conflict; prejudice and power within religious communities; dealing with the emotional and social costs of leading justice-oriented change; and how identity, power, and privilege varies across contexts. In addition to investigating these forces that contribute to othering, we will also identify the interventions that may mitigate some of these forces, turning toward sustainable solutions that address othering through experiential learning such as site visits and MAP project-related ethnographic study.

Religion and Society (RS)

RS-525: American Religious Realities: Sociological and Anthropological Approaches

Thumma & Yuskav - Fall 2021

As part of the MAIRS curriculum, this course facilitates an understanding of the scope of America's religious diversity: the nature of its current complexity and factors contributing to its emergence; the mutually influencing interactions between religious communities (their convictions, practices, and structures); and the American contextual trends, such as immigration, political issues, and social drivers like race, ethnicity, or gender. This course is taught with faculty of different traditions or backgrounds, and builds knowledge and skills for study within a multifaith setting.

Among the central themes of the Fall 2021 course are race, gender, religious diversity and transnational religions, young adults, the nones, newer religious forms, and the politics of sound. The course will engage a variety of methodological and theoretical approaches pertinent to the study of North American religious realities.

RS-602: Understanding Congregations

Thumma - Summer 2022

A congregation is a spiritual entity, but it is also a social organization, made up of human beings, with conflicts and habits, and grounded in a particular context. The more you know about the many dimensions of the congregation, the better a congregation can make decisions, plan ministry and envision its future. The course is designed for leaders who wish to better understand the dynamics of congregations. We will use a combination of lectures, readings, and field trips to study one congregation during the class meetings and then each student will explore a congregation as the final assignment. We will look at the congregation's identity and culture, its context, the material and human resources, the structures of power, the implicit theology and the leadership dynamics in an effort to understand this complex spiritual entity that is the congregation.

RS-612: None's Religion: Understanding and Addressing the Religiously Unaffiliated Population

Thumma - Fall 2022

The numbers of persons in America who say they have no religious affiliation has risen dramatically over the past 20 years. Currently over 20 percent of the country, and 35 percent of younger generations, are designated as the "nones." Religious communities and leaders need to understand this dynamic and the people who hold this "fastest growing" religious identity to be effective in ministry into the future. This course will explore the phenomenon, discuss the social, psychological and spiritual research on the nonaffiliated and how they are similar and different from Atheists, Agnostics and the "spiritual but not religious." The course will include field trips and research efforts as well as readings and guest speakers to better understand this important development on the religious landscape.

RS-631: Race, Religion & Politics

Yuskaev - Spring 2023

All Americans, wrote Derrick Bell, are “imprisoned by the history of racial subordination.” How have the dynamics of racialized class prejudice played out in American religious history? Is there a way out? While paying attention to global histories and theoretical reflections, students in this course will examine and draw lessons from case studies that highlight the problematic interweaving of race, religion and politics in the lives of human beings designated as minorities, including African-Americans, American Catholics, Jews, and Muslims.

Laheer - Fall 2021

This course introduces students to the Qur’an, and the hadith (words and actions attributed to the Prophet Muhammad himself). The first part of the course deals with Qur’anic topics, including: the Qur’an’s collection, transmission and preservation, variant readings, the theory of abrogation, the concept of i’jāz (inimitability / miraculousness), and approaches to exegesis. The second part of the course will focus on hadith, which are an essential source of Islamic law and normative practice based on prophetic precedent. We survey the basic foundations of hadith studies (‘ulūm al-ḥadīth) which are essential to a well-grounded understanding of this important field of Islamic Studies, including: hadith terminology and classification, the legislative authority of the Sunna, methods of collecting and preserving hadiths, important transmitters, canonical hadith sources. The course also includes selections (in translation) from the Qur'an and hadith, and a survey of Western academic views and contemporary issues.

The Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke are the earliest surviving accounts of the life and ministry of Jesus. This course will provide a detailed examination of these texts, paying special attention to the distinctive portrait of Jesus that each gospel presents. We will study these biblical texts in their ancient contexts and discuss contemporary application. We will explore various theories regarding the so-called "Synoptic Problem": Which gospel do you think came first? The course will also survey different critical methods in Gospel analysis such as literary, redaction, and socio-historical, while paying attention to race, ethnicity, gender and economic status.

Keyes - Fall 2021

In this course we examine the Qur'anic story of the creation of male and female and the significance of female figures in the Qur'an as social and spiritual models. We then explore the important role of early women scholars of hadith in the establishment of the Islamic tradition. Finally, we consider the almost unknown significance of women and their spirituality in the Sufi tradition as presented in the bilingual translation of Al-Sulami's Dhikr an-niswa al-muta'abbidat as sufyyat (Early Sufi Women) and in contemporary sources. This course provides foundational scriptural, historical, and sociological knowledge of diverse perspectives on women in Islam. SC-715: Gender, Power and Women

Grant - Spring 2023

Hebrew Bible appears to talk to men about men. Biblical narratives describe men acting heroically and piously or sinfully and immorally; biblical law codes employ male gendered nouns and verbs throughout. And yet, the Bible also offers a number of accounts of women doing things. Moreover, the Bible's law codes are replete with rules governing women's behaviors and bodies. Significantly, models of heroic and immoral women deviate a great deal from their archetypal male counterparts. Moreover, laws governing women are quite distinct from laws governing men.

In this course we explore biblical texts about women, in order to parse out these differences. In so doing, we aim to understand the female social identities and gendered power dynamics advocated by the Hebrew Bible, as well as the social realities that governed living as a woman in ancient Israel.

Some women we will explore include Eve, Ruth and the prophetess Huldah (among many others). Some laws we will examine address marriage and divorce, rape, and menstruation.

TH-513: The Faiths as Formal Realities

Watts & Winter - Spring 2022

Explores how faith communities move from the text to practices with the use of structured beliefs and traditions, approaches and doctrines. This course is taught in a multi-faith classroom, with faculty of different faith traditions, and it builds knowledge and skills for study within a multifaith setting.

Spring 2022: Jesus Beyond Christianity

This course will explore the roots, roadblocks and responses to Jesus as a historical personality before the development of the religion that holds allegiance in his name. While the course will cover concepts of the modern expression of Christianity, it is intended to seek an understanding of the personage of Jesus beyond adherence to any particular religion. Participants should anticipate a welcoming environment of dialogical engagement of both the literature and personal narratives of the cohort. This course is open to those of any or no faith tradition as an exploration that deepens one's understanding of how commitment to community, burdened by love, was expressed in his life and times.

Harmakaputra - Fall 2021

This course aims to introduce the multifarious hermeneutics of the relationship between theological knowledge and cultural contexts in Christian thought. It does this by (1) presenting the major contemporary Christian approaches to the Gospel-culture or theology-context question, and (2) displaying literature on theological discourses that come from different cultural and intellectual contexts around the world. In every session, the students and the instructor will read, discuss, and assess classical and contemporary theological texts and apprehend some forms of theology done in the light of the questions and challenges of cultures and contexts from the non-western world. At the end of the course, the students will acquire basic knowledge about the nature of contextual theological reasoning. They will also have the chance to evaluate and learn about how western and non-western Christians think theologically in relation to their particular contextual inquiries and how they understand the relation between faith and culture or theology and context.

TH-611: Theological Approaches to Religious Pluralism

Harmakaputra - Spring 2023

In today's multi-religious world, marks with the increasing awareness of and encounters between people of different faiths, understanding religious pluralism has become crucial and relevant. On the one hand, connecting with religious others necessitates the proper way of living in a pluralistic society. Yet, on the other hand, maintaining one's own particular identity is indispensable. The tension prompts theologians and religious scholars to develop various approaches to religious pluralism. This course explores and introduces major contemporary theological approaches to religious pluralism: theology of religions, comparative theology, and scriptural reasoning. We will focus on the theoretical foundation, methodology, and practical aspects of each approach. By the end of the course, students will assess each approach's strengths and weaknesses and construct their own approach to studying religious others.

TH-616: Jesus in Christianity and Islam

Harmakaputra - Spring 2022

Islam and Christianity understand Jesus as an essential figure in connection to God's revelation to humanity, although each religious tradition has its particular view that makes them unique. This course will investigate how canonical scriptures (the Qur'ān, Hadith, and Bible), tradition, spirituality, and contemporary theology depict Jesus and his role in both religious traditions. In the history of Muslim-Christian relations, Jesus has become a contentious point between Muslims and Christians, including through polemical and apologetical forms of interaction. While we address this reality and examine it critically, the course will utilize the comparative theology method in order to generate constructive reflection that can enrich personal and communal understanding in today's pluralistic society.

Course fulfills the following curricular requirements:

MAIRS – Islamic Studies: Religious Pluralism

MAIRS – Ministerial Studies: Beliefs and Practices

TH-622: God in Muslim Thought

Kamaly - Spring 2023

This course surveys conceptualizations of the divine in Muslim thought and practice. The goal is to map out an intellectual history in which ideas of God provide an ordering framework, a core around which the more familiar elements of the Muslim experience take shape. It is important to emphasize that the focus in this course is on concepts of God not as objects of devotion but as subjects of inquiry. The task is two-fold: first, to show the multiplicity of normative ideas and narratives about God that are present in Muslim history; and secondly to relate changes in ideas about the divine to concrete historical conditions. Concepts of God do not just represent what people believe but also legitimate what people do, as individuals and collectivities. Ideas about the existence and knowability of the godhead, the relationship between God and nature, God and history, and God and humans are discussed. Aspects of the divine as reflected in Muslim scripture, i.e. the Quran, and canonical sources such as ḥadīth, are introduced early on and their intellectual and devotional implications are explored and emphasized throughout the semester.

Course fulfills the following curricular requirements:

MAIRS – Islamic Studies: Foundational Fields

Worship and Spirituality (WS)WS-639: Islamic Spirituality

Keyes - Spring 2023

This course explores the growth of the Islamic spiritual tradition from the earliest days of Islam to the modern period. It aims to help students know the diverse manifestations of this spiritual tradition; to examine the historical contexts in which Muslim spiritual paths, orientations, practices, and communities developed; to discover elements and resonances between Muslim and other spiritual traditions; and to deepen understanding of how spiritual practices relate to Islamic law and theology and help the practitioner develop a more holistic approach to the Islamic way of life.

This course provides essential knowledge and skills in spiritual assessment for those in spiritual/pastoral care and counseling professions.

MAIRS- Islamic Studies: Beliefs and Practices

Official Hartford Seminary Policies

The relationships and conduct of students, faculty and staff at Hartford Seminary are expected to be consistent with the purpose and mission of Hartford Seminary as stated in the Catalogue and in keeping with local, state and federal law. On rare occasions, questions may arise about whether certain conduct of an individual or individuals is compatible with the nature and purpose of the Seminary. The policies and procedures in the Official Policies section of the Catalogue and the Student Handbook have been developed to specifically address such issues or situations should they arise.

It is the responsibility of all students to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the purpose and mission of the Seminary as stated in the Catalogue or Student Handbook. It is the right of all students to address any concern, issue or grievance informally as well as formally in keeping with the appropriate policies and procedures for any given issue or situation as stated in the Catalogue or Student Handbook. Students may also consult directly with the Dean of the Seminary for assistance or guidance regarding any issue that may arise.

Credit Hour Policy

Federal regulation defines a credit hour as an amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutionally established equivalency that reasonably approximates not less than: (1) One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out of class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or ten to twelve weeks for one quarter hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or (2) At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours.

Hartford Seminary follows the common understanding in academia that “one hour of classroom” or a Student Hour is equivalent to a 50-minute session. Therefore, 3-credit courses require the equivalent of 37.5 clock hours of instruction and 75 clock hours of out-of-class student work per term. The courses at Hartford Seminary require approximately 42 clock hours of engaged time and approximately 70 clock hours of out-of-class student work per term.

Crime Awareness and Campus Security

The Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990 is legislation that “requires all institutions to annually publish and distribute a security report containing campus security policies and procedures as well as campus crime statistics.” Please see the www.hartsem.edu/current-students/campus-safety/ for the full report.

Drug Free School/Workplace Policy

Hartford Seminary is committed to maintaining a drug-free workplace in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Drug-Free Workplace Act and the amended Drug-Free Schools and Communities legislation and wholeheartedly endorses national standards for prevention programs. Hartford Seminary joins with other institutions of higher education to eliminate substance abuse. The unlawful manufacture, possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs and unauthorized alcohol by students and employees on its property or at any Seminary-sponsored activity, function or event is strictly prohibited. Although the conditions of alcohol and drug dependency may be considered disabilities or handicaps under state and federal law and these groups will not be discriminated against because they have these disabilities, all are considered to be responsible for their actions and their conduct.

Non-Discrimination Policy and Equal Opportunity Statement

Hartford Seminary subscribes to the principles and laws of the State of Connecticut and the federal government pertaining to civil rights and equal opportunity, including Title IX of the 1972 Education Amendments. Hartford Seminary policy prohibits discrimination against any individual on the basis of race, sex, sexual orientation, religious creed, color, age, national or ethnic origin, ancestry, marital status, present or past history of mental disorder, mental retardation, learning disability or physical disability including, but not limited to, blindness or veteran status, or any other reason prohibited by an applicable law or regulation in the employment of faculty, staff and students; in the recruitment and admission of students; and in the operation of all Seminary programs, activities and services. Students with disabilities are eligible for disability support services when they are enrolled in courses for graduate credit or in certificate program courses required for the completion of the program certificate. Additionally, the Seminary will not condone acts of violence or harassment reflecting bias or intolerance of any of the above mentioned classes. Evidence of practices, which are inconsistent with this policy, should be reported to the Office of Human Resources at humanresources@hartsem.edu.

Sexual Harassment Policy

Hartford Seminary observes the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission (E.E.O.C.) Sex Discrimination and Sexual Harassment Guidelines and strives to create a fair, humane and respectful environment. Details of the Sexual Harassment Policy are provided in the Student Handbook.

Smoking Policy

Hartford Seminary is a smoke-free environment. All Hartford Seminary academic buildings (74-76 Sherman, 77 Sherman, 60 Lorraine and 80 Sherman) are designated as non-smoking. Those choosing to smoke must do so outside.

Title IX: Sexual Assault & Sexual Violence Resources

Hartford Seminary prohibits discrimination, including discriminatory harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, stalking, sexual or gender-based harassment, complicity in any act prohibited by this Policy, retaliating against anyone for reporting a violation of this Policy or participating in any investigation or proceeding under this policy. These forms of prohibited conduct are unlawful and undermine the mission and values of the Hartford Seminary.

All Hartford Seminary employees are required to report sexual harassment to the Title IX coordinator. No paid Hartford Seminary employee can guarantee confidentiality.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 protects both the complainants from sexual harassment, discrimination, and violence based on sex, and the respondents – who are in the United States – accused of sexual harassment, discrimination, and violence in education programs and activities that receive federal financial assistance. Education program or activity includes locations, events, or circumstances over which the Seminary exercises substantial control over both the respondent and the context in which the sexual harassment occurred. Title IX applies to all of a school's education programs or activities, whether such programs or activities occur on-campus, off-campus, or virtually. Hartford Seminary may address sexual harassment affecting its students or employees that falls outside Title IX's jurisdiction in any manner the Seminary chooses, including providing supportive measures or pursuing discipline. This policy does not limit principles of academic freedom or freedom of speech even when such speech or expression is offensive, nor does it abridge the Seminary's educational mission.

Our Title IX Officer monitors compliance with this law and ensures that complaints of this nature are appropriately and equitably addressed. Any person can report sex discrimination including sexual harassment (whether or not the person reporting is the alleged target of the conduct that could constitute sex discrimination or sexual harassment), in person, by mail, or by email, using the contact information below at any time. Questions, concerns, and reports of violations can be brought to:
